PREFACE.

The present volume, which completes the present series, closes the translations of the principal Assyrian and Egyptian texts. Those which here appear are equal in interest to the others which have gone before, but many that have been discovered have not found a place in the present work, and necessitate the production of a new series, which might be undertaken if the idea was favourably entertained by the translators. It has been already pointed out the great benefit which the "Records of the Past" have conferred on the advance of the researches into ancient Oriental mythology and literature, by laying before the general reader results obtained by the labours of all the leading students into the philology and inscriptions of the greatest Eastern nations of antiquity. Such results are the more valuable because they are derived from primary sources and from contemporaneous documents, in many cases official, and in all public, so as to invest them with the character of contemporary witnesses. In fact, without the knowledge of such texts as those published in the " Records," it is impossible to comprehend the history of Egypt and Mesopotamia, or to adequately realize the historical narrative of Scripture. It must be borne in mind that whatever differences may exist in details, the general impression conveyed to the mind by these translations will always remain the same. The present volume is accompanied by an alphabetical list of the contents of all the twelve volumes, prepared by Mr. W. H. Rylands; and the series will hereafter be accompanied by a thirteenth or supplementary volume, containing a copious alphabetical index of the proper names and leading points of interest, which Mr. Rylands has also drawn up, and which will be found of great advantage to those consulting the "RECORDS of the Past."

TRANSLATED BY

E. LEFÉBURE.

IN the introduction to the first portion of the translation of this sacred book of the Egyptians M. Lefébure explained the general sense of the work and the position in which the various Divisions are to be found carved upon the sarcophagus.

The translation given on pages 85 to 134 of Volume X. of this series included the Divisions from the ist to the 9 th, the last-named, or the door corresponding to Nos. 13 and 12 of the plates drawn by the late Mr . Bonomi. ${ }^{1}$

The portion printed in the following pages completes the translation of the text. It commences with the Ioth Division, or door of the serpent Stu, plates 12, II, and io, beginning at the foot of the sarcophagus; the 1 ith Division, or door of the serpent Am-netu-f, extending to the right, and finishing at [^0]the head, where is the 12 th Division, the doors of the serpents Sebi and Reri. This ends the Book of Hades. From the 8th Division, the scenes represented lose their unity, the written explanations are shortened, and it seems as if the imagination of the author or authors of the work had become exhausted by so often reproducing the same fundamental idea under so many different forms.

The cover was found broken by Belzoni, but translations are here given of what remains, as figured by Bonomi, on plates I8 and 19. Those which cover the interior side of the lid belong in part to the "Book of the Dead," but are incomplete. Only a small portion of the upper side of the lid now remains, figured on the same plates. On the bottom of the sarcophagus is engraved a large figure of the goddess Neith (plates 16 and 17 ), her arms hanging down, and her body wrapped round with folding wings in the form of a tight-fitting dress.

The figure is surrounded with prayers and chapters from the "Book of the Dead."

In the Appendix M. Lefébure has given the version of the Book of Hades from the Tombs of Seti I.

DOOR.

The great god arrives at this pylon, and enters this pylon : this great god is adored by the gods who are there.

The pylon Seri-t, or the chapel. At the entrance Nemi, holding a knife, and on the inside Kcf, robed in white. In the interior, sixteen uræi, opposite them :

Come to us, dweller on the horizon, great god, who opened the refuge! Open the holy gates, draw back the mysterious doors.

Door of the Serpent Stu.
He who is on this door opens to RA. Sau says to Stu: "Open thy gate, draw back thy door. He will illuminate the darkness and the shades, and (will place) light in the concealed abode. This door closes after the entrance of this great god, and the uræi which are in this pylon cry out when they hear this door close."

SCENES. ${ }^{1}$

A. Four persons, the Anti-u, or those who fix, helding with one hand a knife and with the other a kind of hook of rope or a club; four other persons armed with the same, but having each four uræi for a head, the Hati-u ${ }^{2}$ or bearers of the club. Opposite, the serpent Apap, of which it is said: His cry is wafted into hell. He is tied by the neck with a chain on which the goddess Serk, ${ }^{3}$ one of the forms of Isis, is drawn out. The chain is held by four men, Stefi-u, or those who fire, placed opposite the $A n t i-u$ and the Hati-u. Twelve gods, T'atiu with the strons arm, holding also the chain and turning his back to the Stefi-ll. An enormous hand, the concealed body drawing towards it the chain, which then rises over the five serpents (the first of which is Uammeti), each attached by the means of a small chain to the larger one by Seb Mester Hupi. Kebhsenuf and Tuaumatef armed with hooks and clubs; these five gods issue by half from the great chain, and face the preceding gods. The chain ends at the feet of Osiris, Inhabitant of Amenti.
B. The boat of $R a$ and the Infernals, a person,

[^1]Unti, who with one hand raises a star and with the other hand raises another star. Four gods squatted, bearing on their head an uræus with a long tail. Horus (hawkheaded), Serek, Abesh, and Sekhet (lionheaded). Three persons, the stars, each raising a star with one hand, and with the other hand drawing by a rope towards the solar bari a small boat in which is, half surrounded by an uræus, a human head, the head of the disk, a winged serpent which rises up, Semi, a person, besi, pouring flame on the head of a bull placed at the end of a stick struck with a sword. An uræus standing up, Ankhi, with its head flanked by two human heads. Four women, the Invocators, in a posture of adoration. Two bows supporting each three ureei, the diadem of the urai. In the middle, with one foot placed on each bow, the Doublc-headed, with the head of Set and of Horus, with four arms in adoration.
C. Twelve bearers of oars, the gods Akhum-u Sek-u. ${ }^{1}$ Twelve women holding a rope, the hours which tow along. Four gods with a sceptre: Bauti, or the monkey, with an animal's head. Seshesha, who has a star over his head. The Bull of Amenti, with the head of a bull, and He who names the stars with a star over his head. Opposite, on a bracket, and over his head a star, a monkey named the god of Ruten (Syria). On another bracket a large sacred eyc. A god with a sceptre, the master of his house, advancing towards the sacręd eye.

[^2]A. Those who are in this scene rise for $R_{A}$, who arises and approaches them. (They sing to RA) ${ }^{2}$ : "Arise, RA ; Rule, Khuti. They beat down Apap in his bonds. ${ }^{3}$ Do not ascend, Ra, towards thy enemy ; thy enemy does not ascend, Ra, May thy holy things which have a place in Mehen be brought forth. Apap is stricken with his swords: he is sacrificed! Ra rises at the finishing hour : the great god ascends when his chain(s) is fixed.

The serpent which is in this scene, Serek, flings away his chain. The boat of this great god advances towards the narrow pass of Apap. The great god comes when his chain is fixed.

Those who are in this scene drag the chains of this evildoer. They say to RA : Come, Ra; advance, Khuti! 'The chain is placed on Neha-her, and Apap is in his bonds.

Those who are in this scene as guardians of the Fomenters of trouble, watch over the murderous chain which is in the hand of the Concealed Body in the compass of which are placed the dead at the pylons of the Inhabitant of Amenti. The god says : "Darkness to thy countenance, Uammeti ! Destruction to you, Fomenters of trouble (by) the concealed hand, which causes (you) evil by the means of the deadly chain which is in it! Seb guards your bonds, and the threads of the chain place the murderous chain on you." Watch under the inspection of the Inhabitant of Amenti.

Those who are in this scene load the chains of the Fomenters of trouble, and the boat of the good god advances.
B. The great god is towed along by the gods of Hell,

[^3]and they say, those who tow along RA: Let us tow along towards heaven, Let us tow along towards heaven, Servants ${ }^{1}$ of Ra and of NU! Take possession, Ra, of thy countenance, thy truth. Unite thyself, RA, to thy countenance, thy truth. ${ }^{*}$ Let the countenance of Ra open, and let the eyes of Khuti enter! Let him drive away the darkness of Amenti, let him shed light where he had sent shade.

He rises for Ra, placing ${ }^{3}$ himself over Unti : this god guides ${ }^{4}$ him, and the hour fulfils its duties.

Those who are in this scene, the inhabitants of the earth ${ }^{5}$ guard them. They rise for Ra. They are seated (on) ${ }^{1}$ a large image which is under them, and they raise themselves behind Ra with the mysterious image which is under them.

Those who are in this scene invoke with their stars. They drag the rope before this boat, and they enter Nu .

This countenance of RA glides along and advances in the land : those who are in hell invoke him.

It rises for Ra; it guides the good god through hell towards the eastern horizon.

He rises for RA: he throws flame on the head, and the weapon (? $)^{6}$ which is in the hand of the warrior servant of this god appears.

It rises for RA: the length of time marked out in years is established by this uræus, who makes it ascend with him towards heaven.

[^4]They say, those who call RA: "Come, RA! Oh! come, son of hell ; come, child ${ }^{2}$ of heaven. Oh! arise, RA."

It is the diadem of the uræi ; he traverses ${ }^{2}$ hell.
The bows ${ }^{3}$ bear the Double-headed in his mystery. They direct RA to the eastern horizon of the heavens, and they advance on high with him.
C. Those who are in this scene rise for RA, and take their oars in this cavern of Unti. Their appearance, to them, is for the births of $\mathrm{RA}_{\mathrm{A}}$ in Nu ; their appearances are for the births of Ra: they issue from Nun with him. They navigate for this great god when he places himself on the eastern horizon of the heavens. RA says to them : "「ake your oars, unite yourselves to your stars ! ${ }^{4}$ Your manifestations are (my) manifestations, your births are my births. Oh my pilots, you shall not perish, gods Akhemu, Seku."

Those who are in this scene take the rope to tow along $\mathrm{RA}^{4}$ in Nu : they tow along Ra and prepare the pathways in Nu . These are the goddesses who guide this great god in Nu ; Ra says to them : Take the rope, take your places, pull towards you, my followers to heaven, guide (me) ${ }^{4}$ in the pathways. My births are ${ }^{5}$ your births, my manifestations are your manifestations. Oh ! establish the length of the years (for) ${ }^{4}$ him who is with us.

The god in this scene calls out that the gates of RA be opened : he rises with him.

[^5]- Cf. tomb of Rameses VI.
$5 S$, and on the tomb of Rameses VI., $s u$; n the corresponding part of the sentence there is sut, which varies in other texts with tut as, an expres. sion very frequent in the Solar Litanies.

The god in this scene calls on the stars for the births of this great god: he rises with him.

The god in this scene calls on the gors of the boat of $\mathrm{R}_{\mathrm{A}}$, and rises with him. ${ }^{1}$

The god in this scene places the stars in their dwelling, and rises with him, this great god.

It is the $U t a^{2}$ of RA : this god unites it to him, and it rejoices in its place in the boat.

He opens the gate of this cavern; he remains in his place, and does not rise with Ra. ${ }^{3}$

DOOR. ${ }^{2}$

The god arrives at this pylon; this great god enters this pylon; this god is adored by the gods who are there.

The pylon Sheta-bes-u, or the most mysterious of passages. . At the entrance, Mates, or the executioner; and inside, Shetan-each holding an enormous knife. In the interior, two sceptres, over which are two crowns of the South. By the side of one, Ser; by the side of the other, Horus; and between the two sceptres :

They say ${ }^{2}$ to $\mathrm{RA}_{\mathrm{A}}$ : (Come) in peace (twice), in peace (twice). Many-shaped! thy soul is in heaven and thy body on the earth; thou hast willed it, O great one! thyself. ${ }^{3}$

Gate of the serpent. Am-net-u-f.
He who is on this gate opens to Ra. San says to Am-net-u-f: Open thy gate to Ra, draw back thy door for Khuti : he will illuminate the darkness and the shades, and will place light in the concealed abode. The door closes after the entrance of this great god, and the gods who are in this pylon cry out (when) they hear this door closing.

A. Four persons, each holding a disk, the bearers of light. Four bearers of stars. Four persons with a sceptre in their hands, those who go out. Four ramheaded persons with a sceptre, $B a, N u m, P e-n e t e r$, Tent. Four hawk-headed persons with a sceptre, Horus, Shenebt, Sapt, and he who is in his double boat. Eight women seated on uræi, and each holding a star with one hand; the protecting hours. A crocodile-headed person with a sceptre (Sebek-ra) ${ }^{3}$ holding behind him a serpent in an erect position.
B. The boat and the Infernals. Nine persons, four of which are wolf-headed, each holding a large staff with a hook, and a knife, the nine who slay Apap. Apap tied by chains attached to five objects like the hieroglyph sent, the cords of Horus. Four monkeys, each holding an enormous hand. Two women wearing on their heads the diadems of Upper and Lower Egypt, Amenti. A person with a sceptre in his hand. Sebeikh-ti.
C. Four men with the crown of the South, the Royal Heads. Four men bare-headed, the Afflicted. Four men with the crown of the North, the Nem-u. Four men bare-headed, the Renniu. Four women with the crown of the South, the Royal. Four women with the crown of the North (the Nemtu). ${ }^{3}$ Four women without a crown (the Afflicted). ${ }^{2}$ Four [^7]men half bent, the Arauti- $\mathrm{l}^{1}$. A cat-headed god. $M a-t i,{ }^{2}$ holding behind him a serpent in an erect postion.

LEGENDS.

A. Those who are in this scene bear the disk of Ra. They guide (in) ${ }^{1}$ hell and in heaven by this ${ }^{3}$ shape which is in their hands. These are they who (?) ${ }^{4}$ speak to the pylon of Aker- ${ }^{1}$ that Ra may place himself in the bosom of Nu.

Those who are in this scene carry stars. When the arms of Nun receive Ra they shout with their stars, they raise themselves with him towards heaven, and they place themselves in the bosom of Nu.

Those who are in this scene, their sceptres in their hands, settle the possessions of this god in heaven, and in return Ra points out their abodes.

Those who are in this scene, their sceptres in their hand, furnish (?) the food of the gods who are in heaven, and pass over (?) ${ }^{5}$ the water, Ra not having (as yet) arrived at Nun.

Those who are in this scene, their sceptres in their hands, place the naos, put their hands to the side of the double boat of the god when he issues from the gate of Sam, ${ }^{6}$ and place the oars in Nu (when) (the present) hour is born in it, and (when) (the preceding) hour reposes in it.

Those who are in this scene, their uræi under them, and their hands holding stars, issue from the double sanctuary of this great god, four to the east, and four to the west.

[^8]They call the souls of the east, they invoke this god, and adore him on his going out (when) Setti issues in his shapes; they direct the navigation of the pilots of the boat of this great god.
B. The gods of hell say: ${ }^{1}$ The issuing from Amenti, installation in the double extent of Nun, and accomplishment of the transformations in the arms of Nun! The god does not enter heaven, he opens hell to heaven, in his shapes which are in Nun. What opens hell for Nu are the arms of Amen-ran-f; ${ }^{2}$ he is in the black night, whence light issues from the shade.

Those who are in this scene, their staves in their hands, take their weapons and strike Apap: they accomplish his sacrifice, and inflict blows on (his) coils, which are in heaven. The chains ${ }^{3}$ of this wicked one are in the hands of the children of Horus : they raise themselves towards this god, their ropes in their fingers. The god counts ${ }^{4}$ his members, when he whose arms are concealed opens to make a way for Ra. ${ }^{4}$

The serpent who is in this scene, the sons of Horus strike him. They are placed in Nu in this scene. They weigh down his chains, and if his coils are in heaven, his venom falls into Amenti.

Those who are in this scene direct RA to the eastern horizon of heaven. They direct this god, their creator, with their hands, two to the east and two to the west, in the two sanctuaries of this god. They issue behind him, and give praise to his soul when it sees them.
${ }^{1}$ The coming out refers to the scene of the Twelfth Division.
2 The " mysterious being," Osiris.
${ }^{3}$ Kha-u ; cf. tomb of Rameses VI., where this word has the determinative of rope.
${ }^{4}$ Cf. tomb of Rameses VI.

Those who are in this scene turn away $\operatorname{SeT}^{1}$ from this pylon (of Tuan-ti): they open the cavern and fortify the mysterious (?) pylons. Their souls arise behind RA. ${ }^{2}$
C. Those who are in this scene place the white crown of the gods who follow Ra. They remain in hell : their souls arise and remain in the pylon.

Those who are in this scene in this pylon lament over Osiris, ${ }^{3}$ when RA issues from Amenti: (their) ${ }^{2}$ souls rise after him. They are behind Osiris. ${ }^{2}$

Those who are in this scene join Ra, producing his births on earth. Their souls rise behind him, and their bodies remain in their place.

Those who are in this scene name Ra, and magnify the names of all his shapes : their souls rise behind Nun, and their bodies remain in their places. ${ }^{2}$

Those who are in this scene raise Truth and place it in the naos of Ra, when Ra places himself in Nu : their souls ascend behind him, and their bodies remain in their place.

Those who are in this scene fix the length of time, and cause the existence of years for the guardians of the damned in hell and for the living in heaven. They follow this god.

Those who are in the scene in (this) pylon ${ }^{2}$ in their wailings lament over themselves in presence of the great god in Amenti : they drive away Set from this pylon, and do not enter ${ }^{2}$ heaven.

Those who are in this scene adore $\mathrm{R}_{\mathrm{A}}$, and invoke him: They give praise to the gods who are in hell, guardians of the gate of the refuge (they remain in their places). ${ }^{2}$
The porter of the cavern remains in his place. ${ }^{2}$

GATE. ${ }^{1}$

This great god arrives at this pylon : this great god is adored by the gods who are in it.

The pylon Tescr-t ban, or the most holy of souls. At the entrance $P i$, or perhaps $B a i ̈$, and in the inside Akhekhi. In the interior, two heads at the end of two long poles; over one is the scarabæus, hieroglyph of the god Khepru, over the other the solar disk, and the word Tum ; between the two poles:

They hold themselves on their heads, they are on their poles in this pylon. The heads rise in this pylon.

Door of the serpent Sebi.
He who is on this door opens to RA. Sau says to Sebi: Open thy gate to RA, draw back thy door for Khuti: he will leave the refuge and will place himself in the bosom of $N u$. The door closes, and the souls which are in Amenti cry out when they hear this door closing.

Door of the serpent Reri, almost touching the former one.

He who is on this door opens to Ra. Sau says to Reri: Open thy gate to RA, draw back thy door to Khuti; he will leave the refuge and will place himself in the bosom of Nu . This door closes, and the souls in Amenti cry out when they hear this door closing.

By the side of this door two uræi, Isis and Nephthys, the first above and the second below.

They guard this mysterious door of Amenti, and raise themselves behind this god.

SCENE AND LEGENDS. ${ }^{1}$

Above, Osiris forms a circle with his body ; it is Osiris, who surrounds hell. He raises his arms towards the goddess Nu , standing on his head: it is Nu who receives Ra. Osiris and Nu have their heads below. The goddess holds the solar disk over a scarabæus placed in a boat: this god places himself in the boat." Around the scarabæus are the gods who are in it (in the boat). These are, beginning at the side of the door and at the stern, Sau, Hu, Hak, Shu, and Seb: then Isis and Nepthys stretching out their hands under the scarabæus, then Seba-ru (gates or doors) going forward. The boat is supported by Nun, whose bust and arms are only to be seen: these arms issue from the water and bear up this god. The entire scene is surrounded by the waves of Nun, which shows that the Egyptians looked upon the earth (or Osiris) as a spherical body floating through the air. The boat is directed, as a passage made through the waves indicates, towards a spot where a disk is represented on a band. This band, studded with points, represents the earth, ${ }^{3}$ from which the sun is about to issue, and it completely frames in the divisions of the Book of

HORIZONTAL INSCRIPTION.

Under the dotted band which surrounds the 6th and 7 th divisions of the Book of Hades, on the outside of the cover, there are fragments of a horizontal inscription divided into two halves: the first is on the right side ( pl . xviii.), the second begins at the edge and is continued on the left side. (PI. I8 and 19.) We must remark that the second fragment of pl. I9 ought to be the third.

BOTTOM OF THE SARCOPHAGUS.

Plates i6 and 17.

The goddess Nu , her arms hanging down, and her body wrapped round with folded wings, is surrounded with texts. She has over her head the hieroglyphs of her name the last of which, that of heaven, is studded with stars.

Words of Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who is Ramenma, truthfal, of the son of Ra, who is Seti-merenptah, truthful. He says: Nu, support me! I am thy son. Separate ${ }^{1}$ my weakness from what makes it so.

Nu, inhabiting the abode of Hennu, says: (O) this son, the Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who is Ramenma, truthful, the son of Ra, of his loins, who loves him, Master of the Diadems, the Osiris who is Seti-merenptah!

Seb says: This chosen one, who is Ramenma, and who loves me, I have given given him purity on earth, and power in heaven, to the Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who is Ra-men-ma, truthful, to the son of Ra, who loves Nu , and who is Seti-merenptah, truthful, in the presence of the lords of hell.

Speech. (O) Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who art Ramenma, son of Ra, of his loins, who art Serimerenptah, truthful! Thy mother Nu stretches for thee her arms over thee, Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who [^13]art Ramenma, truthful, son of Ra, who loves him, Master of the Diadems, Seti-merenptah, truthful. Thy mother Nu has given thee the health which is in her for thy safety. Thou art in her arms. Thou shalt never die. Removed and discarded are the evils which remained for thee. That will come no more to thee, that will ascend no more to thee, Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who art Ramenma, truthful: Horus stands behind thee, Osiris, son of Ra, Master of the Diadems, Seti-merenptah, truthful, since thy mother Nu is come to thee: she purifies thee, she unites herself to thee, she renews ${ }^{1}$ thee as a god, vivified, established among the gods.

Nu , the very great, says: I have made him a soul, I have made him powerful, I have made him master in the bosom of his mother Tefnu, I who never bring forth. I have united him, the Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, Ramenma, truthful, son of Ra, the Master of the Diadems, who is Seti-merenptah, truthful, with life, stability, and happiness. He shall no longer die. I am Nu with the powerful heart. I have placed a seed in the bosom of his mother Tefnu, in this name of mine, Nu , of the mother of whom no one is master. I have entirely fulfilled all my splendours : the entire earth, I have taken possession of it, I have taken possession of the south and of the north, and I have surrounded all things in my arms to restore to life the Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who is Ranenma, the son of Ra, of his loins, loving Sakar, the Master of the Diadems, the Sovereign with joyous heart, Seti-mercnptah, truthful. His soul will live for ever.

Nu, says the Osiris, King, who is Seti-merenptah, truthful, support me! I am thy son. Separate my weakness from what made it exist.

> ' Literally, " destroys."

The sovereign of the two parts of Egypt, who is Ramenma, truthful, the son of Ra, who is Seti-merenptah, truthful.

Chapter to bring out the day and to pass through Ammah. ${ }^{1}$

Speech of Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who is Ramenma, truthful, of the son of Ra, of his loins, who loves him, Master of Diadems, who is Seti-merenptah, truthful ; he says: Health to you, lords of justice, who are free from iniquity, and who are living for ever, for the double period of eternity! (The Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands) who is Ramenma, truthful, the son of Ra, of his loins, who loves him, the Master of the Diadems, who is Seti-merenptah, come to us; he is powerful by his qualities ; he is master of his (magical) virtue, he is endowed with protective (formulæ). Deliver the Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who is Ramenma, truthful, the son of Ra, Master of the Diadems, who is Seti-merenptah, of the crocodile of this tank of the just. His mouth is his, he speaks by it. Let him be granted liberty to act in your presence, because I know you: I know your names; I know this great god to whose nostrils you present exquisite things. Rekem is his name; he passes to the eastern horizon of heaven, Rekem; he departs, I depart ; he is safe, I am safe. May I not be destroyed on the Mesak! May the impious not take possession of me! Do not drive me from your doors, do not close your arms for the Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who is Ramenma, truthful, for the son of Ra, of his loins, who loves him, the Master of the Diadems, who is Seti-merenptah, truthful, because (my) bread is in Ta, and my drink is in Tep. My arms are [^14]united in the divine house which my father has given me. He has established for a dwelling above the earth; there are corn and barley in it, the quantity of which no one knows. A festival is celebrated there for me by my son, of my body. Give me funereal offerings, incense, oil, and all good and pure things, upon which the gods feed. The Osiris, King, Ramenma, truthful, the son of Ra, of his loins, who loves him, the Master of the Diadems, the Sovereign with the joyous heart, Seti-merenptah, truthful, exists for ever under all shapes which please him, he navigates in ascending and in descending the plain of Aam , he is united to, life for ever in the plains of offerings. It is I, the double lion.

Said by Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, Ramen$m a$, truthful, by the son of Ra, who loves him, Seti-merenptah, truthful: Oh! keep that destroyer of my father for me, the Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands. Ramenma, truthful, for he is my father who is under my legs which rise, O-Iris, son of Ra, Master of the Diadems. Scti-merenptah, truthful, strike him with thy hand! Search him, for he is taken, he is taken by thy hand. Osiris, King, Master of the 'Two Lands, Ramenma, truthful, thou shalt not grow weak! Nu comes to thee, she hides thee as a great uniter. Thou shalt not grow weak, she unites herself to thee, she protects thy weakness, she collects thy limbs, she unites thy heart to thy bowels, she has placed thee among living essences. Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, Ramenma, truthful, before the good god, Lord of Taser-t.

Said by Osiris, King, Master of the 'Two Lands, Ra-menma, truthful, son of Ra, of his loins, and who loves him, the Master of the Diadems, Seti-merenptah, truthful 1: O, [^15]ravishers! (O) runners! Oh! do not seize me, ${ }^{1}$ great god; grant that that soul of mine may come to me in every place where I shall be. If thou delayest in leading this soul to me in every place where I shall be, thou wilt find the eye of Horus placing itself against these in the same way as the watchers. Is it that he lies down of those who lie down in Heliopolis, a country where there are thousands of towns? If my soul, with which is my state of elect, ${ }^{2}$ is brought to me in every place where I shall be, thou shalt have laboured, guardians of heaven and earth! for this soul of mine ; (yet) if thou delayest in making my body see its soul thou wilt find the eye, Horus, placing itself against thee in the same way (as the watchers). O (you), these gods who tow the boat of the Lord of Multitudes, who lead heaven to hell, who clear (the path) ${ }^{3}$ of Nu , who make the soul approach the mummy, its hands full of bonds, seize and grasp with chains, destroy the enemy. The boat rejoices, the great god passes in peace; behold, you have granted that this soul may issue from Osiris, King Ra-men-ma, truthful, with his legs, on the eastern horizon of heaven, for ever, for ever."

Words of Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who is Ra-men-ma-aat-ra, truthful, of the son of Ra, loving PtahSukar, of the Master of Diadems, who is Seti-merenptah, truthful. He says: Let the great ones pass behind me. May these limbs of mine never grow weak!

The Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who is Ra-MEN-MA-RA, truthful, the son of RA, of his loins, who loves him, the Master of Diadems who is Seti-merenptah, truthful, says: Nu, support me! I am thy son. Separate (my) weakness from what makes it exist. Osiris, King, Master of the Two Lands, who art Ra-men-ma-Ra, truthful, son of Ra, of his loins, and who loves him, Master of the Diadems, who art Seti-merenptah, truthful, I have given thee thy head ; of thy body there shall not grow weak any of those limbs of the Master of Diadems, who is Seti-merenptah, truthful.

A PPENDIX.

It has been said that the tombs of Seti I. ${ }^{1}$ and Merenptah I. ${ }^{2}$ give a different version of the Book of Hades, completely different from that which the other tombs and the sarcophagus of Seti I. present. The following is the version from the tomb of Seti I. :-

GATE.

The god arrives at this pylon and enters this pylon : this great god is adored by the gods who are there. ${ }^{\text {s }}$

The pylon Neb-hau, ${ }^{4}$ the lower part of which is injured.
At the entrance $M a-a b$, in the interior six male mummies, the gods and goddesses also are in . . . . opposite them.

Come to us, Inhabitant of the Horizon, great god, who opened the refuge! Open.

In Champollion's copy the representation of the pylon is accompanied by a large scene which, perhaps, takes the place of that of the Psychostasis, and which is described thus :

The god Horus presenting the Pharaoh-Osiris to his father Osiris, assisted by the goddess of Amenti.

Door of the serpent Set-m-ar-f. ${ }^{5}$
${ }^{1}$ Champollion, Notices, Vol. I., p. $43^{2}$ and 770 to 775 .
$\begin{aligned} & \text { 2 Id., pp. } 827 \text { and } 829 . \\ & \text { Id., p. p. } 773 .\end{aligned}{ }^{72}$ Champollion, Notices.

He who is on this door opens to Ra. Sau says to Set-m-ar-f: Open thy gate to Ra; draw back thy door for Khuti. He will illuminate the darkness and the shades, and will place light in the concealed dwelling. The door closes after the entrance of this great god, and those who are in this pylon cry out when they hear this door closing.

SCENES.

First Line.
Twelve bearers of forked sticks. Twelve bearers of the Devourer of the coils from which heads issue. Twelve bearers of the rope from which the hours issue. The Devourer is a serpent which has twelve human heads on his back. The rope is double, and over it twelve stars; it terminates at a standing mummy, Kena, which is opposite the other persons.

Second Line.

The boat and the Infernals. Twelve persons, standing, their arms wrapped up in yellow, blue or red mantles; the concealed arms, bcarers of mysteries. Eight gods of the temples. Four gods who dwell, there.

Third Line.

Tuanti, the Infernal Horus, standing, and leaning on a staff, before a funcreal couch made of the serpent Nehap, which supports twelve mummies, those who accompany Osiris, the slecpers who are in repose. Four persons, between whom is written the word Khasit, lowering their arms in sign of adoration.

L E G E N D S.

First Line.
Ra says to them: Take your staves and strike. Go, O you, against the Devourer! Oh! strike on him. Let the heads come out of him, and let him draw back. They say to Ra: Our staves are for Ra. We strike the evildoing serpent, $\mathrm{O} R \mathrm{R}$, because he has eaten the heads. They issue from his coils; he draws back. These are the gods who are in the boat. They drive Apap from Nu , and they raise themselves in hell. They drive away $A p a p$ far from Ra, in Amenti, (where) the infernals guide this god. Their food is (nade) of bread, their drink of the liquor $t$ 'eser, their refreshment is of water. Offerings are made to them on earth because they drive away the impious far from Ra in Amenti.

These are the gods who sacrifice the evil-doers to overthrow the enemies of Ra. They strike the wicked one and make the heads which were in him come forth. (RA) says to them: Make the wicked one retreat; make Apap draw back. Let the heads which were in him come forth. Let him perish. He calls them: He is destroyed, oh eaten heads; you that were eaten, you that were devoured Come out of him. (RA) calls them and they come out of him whose coils had absorbed them to raise himself over them. Now the heads had entered their coils, because this serpent does not see, does not feel, does not hear; he feeds on their cries, he lives on calling on himself. Their food is of offerings (made) on earth, when RA issues from hell. Oblations are made to them as they remain under trees. (Ra says) : Pull the rope, tear (it) from the mouth of Ken! Make your hours come forth. Take your opportunity for yourselves, by them, and place yourselves in your dwellings. (When) the rope which has entered Aken comes out, the hour is not (yet) born: Ra calls it, and it puts itself in its place, for Ank swallows the rope. ${ }^{1}$ They say to RA: The rope is with $A k$, and the hours are with thy divine (soul ?), RA, when thou shinest, thou whose body is the most mysterious of things, their food is (made) of bread, and their drink of the liquor $\boldsymbol{t}$ eser, their refreshment is of water. Offerings are made to them on earth because they make (?) the rope rise (?) out of him.

Second Line.

The great god is towed by the Infernals. They say to Ra: Towing for thee, great god, the Master of the Hours, acting according to what is in the earth: the gods live by his powers, and the elect (by) the sight of his shapes. Ra says to them : Power to you, towers; holiness to you, towers! I come for the things of hell. Tow me towards the dwelling of stable things. Free yourselves on this mysterious mountain of the horizon.

They possess the mystery of the great god, the dangerous (?) (when) those who are in hell see him, and (when) the dead who burn in Ha-ben-ben ${ }^{2}$ see him, on. the spot, [^16]where the body of this god is. Ra says to them: "Let us take, O you, my image, embrace your mysteries in Ha-benben, in the place where my body is, whicl is with me. Mystery to what is in thee! The mystery of hell is what your arms conceal. They say to RA: "That your soul may in heaven, Inhabitant of the Horizon, let thy shadow ascend to the refuge. May thy body be on earth, thou who dwellest in heaven ; we give him Ra in him. RA (?) feed thyself and unite thyself to thy body, which is in hell. Their food is (made) of the nutriment of Ternet, in which the souls repose. Offerings are made to them on earth because they see the light in hell.

They are at the gate of Ha-ben ben; they see what Ra sees; enter with his mysterious image and examine what the great ones bring. Ra says to them : My food is your food, my nutriment is thy nutriment. You are those who are with my mysteries. Here I am to protect my mysteries which are in Ha-ben ben. Glory to you! that your souls may live. Their nutriment is the nutriment of Khuti.

Tuanti says to them : ${ }^{2} \mathrm{O}$ God, who dwelleth in hell, who art with us and the sovereign of Amenti, you who cheer yourselves in your places and who recline on your beds, raise up your flesh, unite your bones, close together your limbs, collect together your flesh that the agreeable breath be wafted to (your nostrils.)

Third Line.

Tuanti says to them: O Gods, who dwell in hell, who are with the sovereign of Amenti, who cheer yourselves [^17]in your places and who are reposing on your heads, raise up your flesh, unite your bones, close together your limbs, bring together your flesh, that the agreeable breath be wafted to your nostrils. Overturning to your coffins, carrying off to your headdresses ${ }^{1}$ that your divine eyes may glisten. See the light by them. Arouse yourselves from your swoon! . Receive for yourselves your fields in the plain Neb-hatap-u. Fields are yours of this plain, and its water is yours. Unite, thanks to me, fields in Neb-hatap-u. Their refreshment is of water. Nehap is he who places their bodies ; their souls arise there towards the plain of Aam, which is given (to them) to refresh themselves there. This land produces their food and their meat, their refreshment is of water. Offerings have been made to them on earth as to the mummy which reposes on its bed.

They are in the circuit of this Khaset, there is an uræus erect in this Khaset. The water of this Khaset is on fire. The gods of the earth and the souls of the land do not descend towards this Khaset, on account of the flame of this uræus. This great god who is in hell lives on the water of this Khaset. Ra says to them: Oh! return to gods and souls, the holy Khaset, given for the water which is in Anker. The water of this Khaset is Osiris," and this tank the inhabitant of hell. Thy fire being burning, be devouring for the mouth of the souls, which rise towards thee. O Osiris, thou dost not perish! O Khaset, thou dost not perish. The gods do not take possession of it, and take care of his water. Their food is (made) of bread, and their drink of the liquor t'eser, their refreshment is of water. Offerings are made to them on earth as to the [^18]destroyer in Amenti. Neb-hatap-u, ${ }^{1}$ these are fields of this plain for you, and its water is yours. Return to, thanks to me, fields in Neb-hatap-u. Their refreshment is of water, Nehap is he who places their bodies. Their souls rise towards the plains of Aam to take possession of (their tanks).

SCARABÆI OF AMENOPHIS III.

TRANSLATED BY
S. BIRCH, LL.D., D.C.L.

AMONGST the various monuments of Amenophis III. important information is afforded by three large scarabæi, which record as many historical facts. This class of monuments is exceedingly rare, and almost limited to the reign of Amenophis III. The scarabæi here translated have been published as follows: the first scarabæus, recording his marriage with the queen Tai or Tii, an event which took place before his tenth regnal year, has been published by Rosellini, Monumenti Storici, Tav. 44, I, and translated by the same author in his Momumenti Storici, Tom. III., pl. 1, p. 263. The second scarabæus, recording the lion hunts of the same monarch, has been published Zeitschrift fur Agyptische Sprache 1880, p. 81; the third, from two different examples, by Dubois, Pierres Gravées, 1747, pl. 22, and by Young, Hieroglyphics, 1828 , pl. 13, and although not translated entirely is often alluded to by Egyptologists. The fourth scarabæus, in the Vatican at Rome, has been published by Rosellini, Monumenti Storici, Tav. 44, 2, and imperfectly translated by him in the same work, Monumenti Storici, Tom. III., pl. I, p. 263. Attention to its correct meaning was first called by Hincks, Trans. Royal Irish Academy, Vol. XXI., Part I., 1843. This is the most important of the series, showing, as it does, the commencement of the disk heresy, and from it a chronological deduction has been drawn as to the probable date of. the reign of Amenophis III. Examples of the Ist and 3rd scarabæi are in the British Museum, Nos. 4095-4096.

DREAM OF THOTHMES IV.

translated byS. BIRCH, LL.D., D.C.L.

THIS inscription is found upon a tablet, the lower part of which is much injured, about 14 feet high, placed before the breast of the Great Sphinx at Gizeh. This inscription was first copied by Salt, in 1820 , when it was in better condition than the subsequent copies show. His MS. copy is in the British Museum, with other drawings and papers, entitled Memoirs on the Pyramids and the Great Sphinux, fo., 1820. Salt's copy was first published by Young, Hicroglyphics, fol. Lond., 1828 , pl. 80, and a subsequent republication of Salt's copy was given in Vyse, Appendix to Operations carried on at the Pyramids of Gizch, 8vo, Lond. 1842, Vol. III., pl. 6. It was subsequently published by Lepsius, Denkmäler, Abth. III., Bl. 38, and a portion of it by Brugsch-Bey, Zeitschrift für Aegyptische Sprache, 1876, se. 89, who first gave a translation of the most important portion of the text relating to the dream. A translation of part of the contents had been given by me in the above cited work of Vyse, p. 114, and following. The present translation is the first given of the whole, and a collation of the different texts has been made for the purpose. It is indeed to be regretted that the monument has been so much injured, as otherwise the wanting portion would have contributed still more to the history of the Sphinx. It would appear, from the inscription, that the Sphinx was a representation of the king Cephren, the successor of Cheops; that the dream of Thothmes IV. happened when the king was still a youth and had not yet mounted the throne, and that in remembrance of the dream, as soon as Thothmes had ascended the throne, he proceeded to fulfil the injunction laid upon him in his dream by the god.

DREAM OF THOTHMES IV.

At the top of the tablet is the Hut, and right and left the Sphinx, on an edifice like the façade of a tomb of the 4th dynasty, adored by Thothmes IV. The inscriptions read:

The King of Upper and Lower Egypt, the Lord of the two countries, Men kheperu Ra, Tahutimes ('Тhothmes), Crown of crowns, Giver of Life, gives incense and water.

Haremaxhu (Harmachis) says I give great power to the Lord of the two countries, Tahutines, Crown of crowns.

On the left side Thothmes IV. offers a jar to the Sphinx.

The King of Upper and Lower Egypt, ${ }^{1}$ Lord of the two countries, Menkheperu-Ra, Giver of Life, established and powerful like the Sun.

Over the Sphinx :
Haremaxu (Harmachis). The speech. I give a strong life to the Lord of the two countries, Tahutimes, Crown of crowns.

Between the two scenes is
The speech. I have given to be crowned Men kheperv $\mathrm{RA}_{\mathrm{A}}{ }^{2}$ on the throne of Seb, Tahutimes, ${ }^{3}$ Crowil of crowns in the dignity of Tum.

[^21]The text then follows-
I The year I, the 19th of the month Athor, of the sanctity of the Horus, the Powerful Bull, image of rulers, Lord of diadems, establisher of kingdoms like Tum, Golden hawk, rich in years, destroyer of the Ninebows, King of Upper and Lower Egypt, Men kheperu Ra (Son of the Sun of his race, Tahutimes, Crown of crowns), beloved of . . . . . giver of life, stability, and health, like the Sun immortal.
2 The living good god, Son of Tum, support of Harem${ }^{A} \chi U$, the living Sphinx of the entire Lord, crowns the chief son, ${ }^{1}$ made of his substance, formed of Khepera, created by Khepera in the likeness of his strength, ${ }^{2}$ the image proceeding to the earth in his form as Haremaxu, father of the King of Upper and Lower Egypt, ${ }^{3}$ most beautiful, ${ }^{4}$ agreeable to the circle of the gods, purifying Annu, ${ }^{\text { }}$ 3 protecting its peace, protecting the abode of Prah-[KA], ${ }^{\text {, }}$ giving what is due to Tum, carrying it to him who is the South wall, making memorials in the daily course ${ }^{8}$ to Horus, making all things, seeking out the glories of the gods of the North and South, building their abodes . . . . in making all their substance, ${ }^{9}$ the son of the Sun of his race, Tahutimes, ${ }^{10}$ Crown of crowns, like the Sun.

5 He doubled the circle of his riches like the Son of Nut. Then he made a hunt for his enjoyment in the Hill of the Southern wall, ${ }^{3}$ in its direction North and South, to shoot at a mark with bronze bolts, to hunt the lions of the gazelle land, ${ }^{4}$ journeying in his chariot, his horses fleeter 6 than the wind, with two of his followers ; they did not perceive any one. # THE FOUNDATION OF THE TEMPLE OF THE SUN OF HELIOPOLIS.

POETICAL TEXT WRITTEN ON A LEATHER ROLL.

TRANSLATED BY

LUDWIG STERN.

T'HE leather roll which contains the following record of the XIIth dynasty was secured by Dr. Brugsch in 1858, at Thebes, and sold, after his return in 1859, to the Royal Egyptian Muscum at Berlin. It remained unknown till 1874, when I published the texts, in facsimile, with a transcription, in the Zcitschrift fïr Aegyptische Sprache of Berlin. Though I recognized its contents as referring to the foundation of the Temple of Heliopolis, yet it was not without an appeal to the indulgence of the candid reader, that $I$ ventured a translation of a text so full of difficult phrases and obsolete words. Dr. Reinisch republished the hieratic text in his Clirestovol. xil.
mathy; Dr. Birch, the transcript in his reading-book of Egyptian Texts; and Dr. Brugsch gave a short analysis of its contents in the recent edition of his History of Egypt. The following translation is a revision of my first attempt.

The document refers to the foundation of a Temple of the Sun, in the 3 rd year of the reign of Usertsen I. This king having ruled for several years, together with his father Amenemhā I., the date of the present account ought to fall into this co-regency; and in my first attempt I even thought the father himself alluded to in the text. But, after due consideration, I abandoned this supposition, since, if this were the case, we should expect him to be introduced with his full titles. There can be no doubt that the temple, the foundation of which is described here, is the temple of Horus and Tum, the rising and the setting sun, at On or Heliopolis. It is the famous "House of the Sun," mentioned in the prophecy of Jeremiah (xliii. 13) : "He shall break also the images of Beth-Shemesh, that is in the land of Egypt ; and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burn with fire."

RECORD OF FOUNDATION.

I The year 3, month Athor, of the reign of the King of Upper and Lower Egypt, Kheperi-ka-ra, the Son of the Sun, Usertsen I., may he triumph and live for ever !
${ }_{2}$ The King ${ }^{1}$ was crowned with the double crown, there was a sitting in the hall,
a council of his attendants.
the counsellors of Рharaoh, may he live!
3 and the great ones for the place of the foundations. ${ }^{2}$
4 "Come, let my Majesty order the works, let me think duly of the glories.
5 Henceforth I will make monuments and erect carved columns to the Double Harmachis. ${ }^{\text { }}$ 6 He created me to do what becomes him, to fulfil what he ordered to do.
He made me overcome ${ }^{4}$ this country, he took note and inclined, (?)
7 he bestowed on me his protection, illustrating what is in the eyes (?).
Let me do the same in his love,
8 I am a king of his making ;
a monarch long-living, not by the father (?).
I occupied as a mere child, not yet worshipped,

[^24]9 in the egg already I was a superior of the road of Anubis. He exalted me as lord of both parts, ${ }^{1}$ 10 as an infant not yet gone forth.
He anointed my forehead as lord of men,
if creating me as chief of mortals.
He placed me into the palace, as youth not yet come forth from my mother's womb. ${ }^{2}$ 12 He gave me his length and his width, and I have a name in his being victorious.
He gave me the land, I am its lord, and I penetrated unto the souls in the heights of heaven.
13 Let me do good deeds ${ }^{3}$ to him who made me, let me conciliate the god by offerings to him.
14 He ordered me to occupy what he had occupied.
I come, O Horus, examiner of the body. ${ }^{4}$
I established the offerings of the gods,
15 and I shall make works in the house of father Tum.
May he give increase as he made me begin (?).
16 I shall fill his altar upon earth, and I shall build, while I abide.
There will be a remembrance of my benefits in his house.
${ }_{1} \boldsymbol{\gamma}$ Let my name be the temple, my monument the lake.
Immortality is a glorious deed.
18 There is no calculating a king of age out of his works, they will not know (how) to name him, (?)

[^25]unless his name be engraved.
19 There is no desolation by the effect of time, the works will last,
it is a striving for glories;
20 it is an enterprise of a perfect name;
it is the watching over an eternal work:"

PART II.

1 They spoke thus, the King and the counsellors, and these replied to their god :
" Hu is (in) thy mouth, and SA is within thee. ${ }^{1}$
2 O long-living ruler! thou plannest ${ }^{2}$ and it is so.
King crowned as uniter of both countries.
to extend (the cord) in thy temple. ${ }^{3}$
3 Magnificent, when the morning is looking upon the glories of the age !

+ They all will not finish it without the lord, thy Majesty is now the eyes of everybody.
Let large statues be made for thy monuments in the house of the gods
5 to thy father, the Lord of the Great house,
Tum, the bull of the circle of the gods,
6 who makes thy house, its construction of hard stone ;
let it be made with a sculptured idol, let thy statues be placed in the interior on pedestals ${ }^{4}$ everlasting."
7 The King himself said:
"Chancellor and intimate counsellor, chief of the treasure house,
8 chief of the mysteries of Тнотн, it is proposed to execute the work ; the Majesty likes to have it made.
9 Let the superintendent in this matter

[^26]carry it on as is desired.
Let everybody be vigilant, so let them make it void of fatigue.

Let every ceremony required be done,
II and let the foreman perform it.
Thy hour is a time for doing it, 12 since it becomes thee to order the things (?) ;
let the beloved place arise.
${ }^{1} 3$ Order the workmen to perform as thou art charged."
The King (rose) with the diadem and double pen, all men following him. The lecturer read the holy book, while extending the cord and laying the foundation on the spot to be occupied by this temple. ${ }^{1}$

Then his Majesty departed . . . . . .'

INSCRIPTION OF AMENI-AMENEMHA.

TRANSLATED BY

S. BIRCH, LL.D., D.C.L.

THE following inscription, which is found in one of the entrance halls of the well-known tomb at Benihassan, has been translated by Birch, Transactions of the Royal Society of Literature, Vol. V., 1856, p. 212, and by Brugsch-Bey, Histoire d'Égypte, 4to, Leipzig, 1859, p. 55-56, again in his Geschichte Aegyptens unter den Pharaonen, p. I 39 and foll., and by Keinisch, Aegyptische Chrestomathie,fo.Wien, Taf. 1, $5 \cdot$ It is also translated by M. Maspero, Recueil de Travaux relatifs à la Philologie et à l'Archeologie Égyptiennes et Assyriennes, 4to, Paris, 1879, Vol. I., p. 160 . It occurs in a hall, or chamber, leading into the celebrated tomb of Beni-hassan, and refers to one of the ancestors of Chnumhotep, whose inscription is also given, containing the account of the hereditary investiture of his family with the governorship of the district Mah, or Sah, known, at a later period, by the name of Antinöe. These inscriptions throw some light on the condition of Egypt under the XIIth dynasty, and the present one records the famine which then prevailed, similar to the great seven years' famine recorded in the Book of Genesis. Dependent upon the annual increase of the Nile, which sometimes failed, Egypt was occasionally subject to famines, and these, at the time of the XIIth dynasty, were so important that they attracted great attention and were considered worthy of record by the princes or hereditary lords who were buried at Beni-hassan. Under the XIIth dynasty, also, the tombs of Abydos show the creation of superintendents or storekeepers of public granaries, a class of functionaries apparently created to meet the emergency, while the disturbance of the level of the Nile, at Samneh, points to the cause of deficient inundations. The text is given, Lepsius, Denkmäler, Abtheilung II., Bd. IV., Bl. I22. The person who narrates his merits in the text is Ameni, surnamed Amenemha.

LEFT SIDE.

I I adored the Prince. I sailed up to bring the treasure to the city of Qaba, ${ }^{1}$ with the hereditary chief, the governor of the district, the magistrate Usertesen. May he live and be well! I sailed with my body of 400 2 of all the brave men of Mah. I brought in safety my troops ; certainly I did all I said. I am a favoured chief, very much beloved, a ruler beloved of his district. I made a course of years
3 as ruler of Mah, and all the work ${ }^{2}$ for the palace was done by my hand. I was appointed superintendent ${ }^{3}$ of the serfs of the temples of the gods of Mah, 3000 bulls with heifers. I was
4 praised on account of it by the palace for the yearly produce of cattle. I worked the whole of Mah ${ }^{4}$ with abundant labourers. ${ }^{5}$ No little child have I injured ; no widow have I oppressed; no fisherman have I hindered ; no shepherd have I detained ; no
5 foreman of five men have I taken from his gang out for the labour. ${ }^{\text {. }}$ There was no poverty in my days, no starvation in my time, when there were years of famine.
6 I ploughed all the fields of $\mathrm{Mah}^{4}$ to its southern and [^29]northern frontiers. I gave life to its inhabitants, making its food ; noone was starved in it. I gave to the widow as to the 7 married woman. I made no difference between the great and little in all that I did. When the Nile made ${ }^{1}$ great waters, all types, ${ }^{2}$ all cultivation ${ }^{3}$ all things, I did not take out of the fields. ${ }^{4}$

INSCRIPTION OF CHNUMHETEP.

TRANSLATED BY

S. BIRCH, LL.D., D.C.L.

THE following inscription, taken from the celebrated tomb at Beni-hassan, belonging to a most remarkable family which flourished at the XIIth dynasty, has long been known. The text was first published by Burton, Excerpta Hicroglyphica, fo., Cairo, 1830, pl. 33-34, and afterwards, in a more complete and exact form, by Professor Lepsius, Denkmälcr, Abth. II., Bl. 124 and 125. It is taken from the walls of a well-known sepulchre. The most important and historical portion has been translated by Brugsch-Bey, Histoire d'ÉEyptc, 4to, 1856, p. 55 ; his Geschichte Aegyptens, 8vo, Leipzig, i877, pp. I 39, 143, I46, and the translation, A History of Egypt under the Pharaohs, 8vo, London, 1879, pp. 148, 149, 157, 158, comprising the first half; but the other portion, although not so interesting, is far more difficult. Later, a translation of the whole has been given by M. Maspero in the Recucil des Travaux rclatifs à la Philologie et à l'Archcologic Égyptiennes et Assyriennes, 1879, p. 160 and foll. The contents show the old feudal constitution of Egypt, the power of the monarch over the principalities, the amount they paid, and the hereditary succession of the great nobles, as also the rights of women to the hereditary estates under the Crown.

LIBATION VASE OF OSOR-UR.

preserved in the museum of the louvre, numbered go8.

TRANSLATED BY

PAUL PIERRET.

THIS vase, in bronze, of an oblong form and having a movable handle, is covered with inscriptions finely traced with a pointed instrument. Saïtic epoch. Capacity 5 litres (about five pints).

The text (the translation of which here follows) is found in the 2nd vol. of my Recueil d'Inscriptions du Louvre, in the eighth number of the Etudes Egyptologiques.

The goddess Nout standing in her sycamore, pours the water, which is received by the deceased from one side and by his soul from the other.

Saith the Osiris: Divine father and first prophet of Ammon Osor-ur, truthful: Oh, Sycamore of Nout! Give me the water and the breath (of life) which proceed from thee. That I may have the vigour of the goddess of vigour ; that I may have the life of the goddess of life ; that I may breathe the breath of the goddess of the respiration of breaths, for I am Toum.

Saith Nout : Oh, the Osiris, divine father, etc., thou receivest the libation from my own hands; I, thy beneficent mother. I bring thee the vase containing the abundant water for rejoicing thy heart by its effusion, that thou mayest breathe the breath (of life) resulting from it; for I give water to every mummy : I give breath to him whose throat is deprived of it, to those whose body is hidden, to those who have no chapel. I am with thee.

I reunite thee to thy soul, which will separate itself no more from thee-never.

The deceased is in adoration before Osiris Ounnefer, who is seated and followed by Harsiesi, Isis and Nephthys, who assure him of their protection.

Saith the Osiris: Divine father of Ammon Ra, King of the gods, first prophet of Ammon Osor-ur, truthful, son of Nespaout-ta-ui, born of the lady Nehems-ra-taui: I come near to thee, my lord Osiris, to implore the breath and the water from thee. Grant that I may receive them, to rejoice my heart.

Underneath these two scenes, one reads an address to the deceased :

Oh, divine father, servant of Ammon Ra, servant of the diadem of Horus, prophet of Khem, prophet of Month, lord of 'I'serout, prophet in twelfth part of Ammon, become first prophet of Ammon, Oser-Ur, son of the very dignitary Nespaout-taui, born of the lady of the house, priestess of Ammon Ra, Nehems-ra-taut, to thee is offered this libation drawn from Abydos, flowing come from Osiris, which Sothis bringeth thee with his own hands. ${ }^{1}$ [^33]Khnoum telleth thee of it. Cometh to thee an abundant Nile in his time ; his hands hold the water of renewal ; he bringeth thee all the offerings, all the plants at their season, without lack from their total. Toum maketh thy bones firm ; his good north-wind is for thy nostril ; he giveth thee the daily aliments ; his beverages are not lacking to thee. Thy flesh liveth by the purification which thy son maketh thee in thy retreat. The Resident of the West hath established thy person among the sages of the divine lower region; he giveth stability to thy body among those who repose, and causeth thy soul not to distance itself from thee. Isis, divine mother, offereth thee her breast, and thou hast, by her, the abundance of life ; she giveth thee the things in the hall of Osiris ; she granteth that thou enterest amongst the angust personages of the Thébaïd ; she placeth thy person near to the Good Being ; thou dost not cease to belong to His followers. Thou receivest the libation from the hands of thy son, at the period of every ten days, when the barque of the Divinity of Libations appeareth at the west of Thebes for the purification in Medinet-Abou, where is the face of the father of thy fathers.

He evoketh the remembrance of thy person and saveth thy body entirely and for ever.

Every son maketh the purification for his father, accomplishing the ceremony of water to thy person, ${ }^{1}$ and he anointeth his father and reuniteth him to his mother by invoking thy name with that of his father. The beneficent sister ${ }^{2}$ repeateth the formula and provideth thy soul with her conjurations. She granteth that thiou leavest and that thou enterest into the Halls. She hath placed thee amongst her benevolent genii Thy person is strengthened by all her formulæ of incantation. Thou shalt not be repulsed by [^34]Osiris on the day of his great festival of the Arm of the gods. I invoke their name, that they may give thee the aliments of the other life, and that they may establish thy person in the middle of their sacred dwelling. At all times of appeal and of invocation thy heart doth follow thee on the waves of the stream, where thou dost eat according to thy desire, for ever and ever.

THE GREAT TABLET OF RAMESES II.

AT ABU-SIMBEL.

- translated by EDOUARD NAVILLE.

IN the great temple of Abu-Simbel, between two pillars of the first hall, there is a large tablet which has been added, evidently, a long time after the completion of the temple. This tablet, which is the object of the present translation, is covered with a text of 37 lines, containing a speech of the god Ptah Totunen to the king Rameses II., and the answer of the king.

It was very likely considered by the kings of Egypt to be a remarkable piece of literature, as it has been repeated, with slight alterations, on the pylons of the temple of Medinet-Habu, built by Rameses III., The tablet, which is decaying rapidly, has been published three times; first, by Burton, in the Excerpta Hieroglyphica, pl. 60 ; then from the copies of Champollion, in the Monuments de l'Égypte et de la Nubie, I., pl. 38. ; and, finally, by Lepsius, Denkmäler III., pl. 193. The inscription of Medinet-Habu has been copied and published by M. Duemichen, in his Historiche Inschriften I., pl. 7-10., and by M. Jacques de Rougé, in his Inscriptions recneillis en ligypte, II., pl. 131-8.

I am not aware that any complete translation of this long text has been made. The first part has been translated into German by Mr. Duemichen (Die Flotte einer Agyptischen Königin. Einlcitung), from the text at Medinet-Habu ; a portion of it is also to be found in Brugsch, Eigyptische Geschichie, p. 538. The present translation I have made from the tablet, which, being more ancient than the inscription, is very likely to be the original. It contains an interesting allusion to the marriage of Rameses with a daughter of the king of the Kheta. The inscription at Medinet-Habu, which is written more carefully than the tablet, and with less abbreviations, has given me a clue to several obscure passages of the ancient text.

The tablet is surmounted by a cornice, with the winged disk. Underneath, the god Totunen is seen standing, and before him Rameses, who strikes with his mace a group of enemies whom he holds by the hair. Behind the god are the ovals of six foreign nations, most likely Asiatics: Auentem, Hebuu, Tenfu Temuu, Hetau, Emtebebu.

The inscription above the god is as follows: VOL. XII.

Said by Ртah-Totunen, with the high plumes, armed with horns, who generates the gods every day: (I am) thy father, I have begotten thee like a god, to be a king in my stead. I have transmitted to thee all the lands which I have created; their chiefs bring thee their tribute, they come bearing their presents because of their great fear; all foreign nations are united under thy feet, they are to thee eternally ; thy eye is fixed on their heads for ever.

TABLET OF RAMESES II.

1 The 35th year, the 13 th of the month Tybi, under the reign of Ra-Haremakhu, the strong bull, beloved of truth, the Lord of the Thirty Years, like his father Ртaf, Totunen, the Lord of Diadems, the protector of Egypt, the chastiser of foreign lands, RA, the father of the gods, who possesses Egypt, the golden hawk, the Master of Years, the most mighty sovereign of Upper and Lower Egypt.
2 Ra-userma-sotep-en-Ra, the son of Ra, the issue of Totunen, the child of the Queen Sekhet, Rameses, beloved of Amen, ever living.

Thus speaks Ptar-Totunen with the high plumes, armed with horns, the father of the gods, to his son who loves him,
3 the first-born of his loins, the god who is young again, the prince of the gods, the master of the thirty years, like Totunen, King Rameses. ${ }^{1}$ I am thy father, I have begotten thee like a god; all thy limbs are divine. I took the form of the ram of 4 Mendes, and I went to thy noble mother. I have thought of thee, I have fashioned thee to be the joy of my person, I bave brought thee forth like the rising sun, I have raised thee among the gods, King Rameses. Num
5 and Pтан have nourished thy childhood, they leap with joy when they see thee made after my likeness, noble,

[^35]great, exalted. ${ }^{1}$ 'The great princesses of the house of Ptah and the Hathors of the temple of Tem are 6 in festival, their hearts are full of gladness, their hands take the drum with joy, when they see thy person beautiful and lovely like my Majesty.

The gods and goddesses exalt thy beauties, they celebrate thee
7 when they give to me their praises, saying: "Thou art our father who has caused us to be born; there is a god like thee, the King Rameses.

I look at thee, and my heart is joyful ; I embrace thee with my golden arms, and I surround thee with life, purity and duration. I provide thee
8 with permanent happiness. I have fixed in thee joy, enjoyment, pleasure, gladness, and delight. I grant thee that thy heart may be young again like mine. I have elected thee, I have chosen thee, I have perfected thee ; thy heart is excellent and thy words are exquisite; there is absolutely nothing
9 which thou ignorest, up to this day, since the time of old; thou vivifiest the inhabitants of the earth through thy command, King Rameses.

I have made thee an eternal king, a prince who lasts for ever. I have fashioned thy 1o limbs in electrum, thy bones in brass and thy arms in iron. I have bestowed on thee the dignity of the divine crown; thou governest the two countries as a legitimate sovereign; I have given thee a high Nile, and it fills Egypt for thee with the abundance of riches and wealth ; there is
I I plenty in all places where thou walkest; I have given

[^36]thee wheat in profusion to enrich the two countries in all times; their corn is like the sand of the shore, the granaries reach the sky, and the heaps are like mountains. Thou rejoicest and thou art praised 12 when thou seest the plentiful fishing, and the mass of fishes which is before thy feet. All Egypt is thankful towards thee.

I give thee the sky and all that it contains. SEB shows forth for thee what is within him ; the birds hasten to thee, the pigeons of Horsekha 13 bring to thee their offerings, which are the first-fruits of those of Ra. Thoth has put them on all sides.

Thou openest thy mouth to strengthen whoever thou wishest, for thou art NUM ; thy royalty is living in strength and might like RA, since he governs the two countries.
${ }^{14}$ King Rameses, I grant thee to cut the mountains into statues inmmense, gigantic, everlasting; I grant that foreigu lands find for thee precious stone to inscribe (?) the monuments with thy name.
${ }^{1} 5$ I give thee to succeed in all the works which thou hast done. (I give thee) all kinds of workmen, all that goes on two and four feet, all that flies and all that has wings. I have put in the heart of all nations to offer thee what they have done; themselves, princes great and small, with one i6 heart seek to please thee, King Rameses.
Thou hast built a great residence to fortify the boundary of the land, the city of Rameses; it is established on the earth like the four pillars
17 of the sky; thou hast constructed within a royal palace, where festivals are celebrated to thee as is done for me

[^37]within. I have set the crown on thy head with my own hands, when thou appearest in the great hall of the double throne; ${ }^{1}$ and men and gods have praised thy name
18 like mine when my festival is celebrated.
Thou hast carved my statues and built their shrines as I have done in times of old. I have given thee years by periods of thirty; ${ }^{2}$ thou reignest in my place on my throne ; I fill thy limbs with life and happiness, I am behind thee to protect thee; I give thee health and strength ;
19 I cause Egypt to be submitted to thee, and I supply the two countries with pure life.

King Rameses, I grant that the strength, the vigour and the might of thy sword be felt among all countries; thou castest down the hearts of all nations;
20 I have put them under thy feet; thou comest forth every day in order that be brought to thee the foreign prisoners ; the chiefs and the great of all nations offer thee their children. I give them to thy gallant sword that thou mayest do with them what thou likest.
21 King Rameses, I grant that the fear of thee be in the minds of all and thy command in their hearts. I grant that thy valour reach all countries, and that the dread of thee be spread over all lands; the princes tremble at thy remembrance, and thy 22 majesty is fixed on their heads; they come to thee as supplicants to implore thy mercy. Thou givest life to whom thou wishest, and thou puttest to death whom thou pleasest ; the throne of all nations is in thy possession. I grant thou mayest show all thy [^38]23 admirable qualities and accomplish all thy good designs; the land which is under thy dominion is in joy, and Egypt rejoices continually.

King Rameses, I have exalted thee through such marvellous
24 endowments that heaven and earth leap for joy and those who are within praise thy existence; the mountains, the water, and the stone walls which are on the earth are shaken when they hear thy excellent name, since they have seen what I have accomplished for thee;
25 which is that the land of Kheta should be subjected to thy palace ; I have put in the heart of the inhabitants to anticipate thee themselves by their obeisance in bringing thee their presents. Their chiefs are prisoners, all their property is the tribute in the 26 dependency of the living king. Their royal daughter is at the head of them ; she comes to soften the heart of King Rameses; her merits are marvellous, but she does not know the goodness which is in thy heart ;
27 thy name is blessed for ever; the prosperous result of thy great victories is a great wonder, which was hoped for, but never heard of since the time of the gods ; it was a hidden record in the house of books since the time of RA till the reign of thy
28 living ${ }^{1}$ Majesty; it was not known how the land of Kheta could be of one heart with Egypt ; and behold, I have beaten it down under thy feet to vivify thy name eternally, King Rameses.
29 Thus speaks the divine King, the Master of the Two Countries, who is born like Khepra-Ra, in his limbs, who appears like Ra, begotten of Рtah-Totunen, the [^39]King of Egypt ; Ra-userma-sotep-en-Ra, the son of Ra, Rameses, beloved of Amen, ever living, to his father who appears before him, Totunen, 30 the father of the gods:

I am thy son, thou hast put me on thy throne, thou hast transmitted to me thy royal power, thou hast made me after the resemblance of thy person, thou hast transmitted to me what thou hast created; I shall answer by doing all the good things which thou desirest.
3: As I am the only master like thou, I have provided the land of Egypt, with all necessaries; I shall renew Egypt for thee as it was of old, making statues of gods after the substance, even the colour of their bodies. Egypt will be the possession of their hearts, and will build them
$3^{2}$ temples. I have enlarged thy abode in Memphis, it is decked with eternal works, and well-made ornaments in stones set in gold, with true gems; I have opened 33 for thee a court on the north side with a double staircase; thy porch is magnificent; its doors are like the horizon of the sky, in order that the multitude may worship thee.

Thy magnificent dwelling has been built inside its walls; thy divine image is in its 34 mysterious shrine, resting on its high foundation; I have provided it abundantly with priests, prophets, and cultivators, with land and with cattle; I have reckoned its offerings by hundreds of thousands of good things; thy festival of thirty years is celebrated there 35 as thou hast prescribed it to me thyself; all things flock to thee in the great offering day which thou desirest ; the bulls and calves are innumerable; all the pieces of their flesh are by milliors ; the smoke of their fat reaches heaven and is received within the sky.
$3^{6}$ I give that all lands may see the beauty of the buildings which I have created to thee; I have marked with thy name all inhabitants and foreigners of the whole land; they are to thee for ever ; for thou hast created them, to be under the command of thy son, who is on 3 3 thy throne, the master of gods and men, the lord who celebrates the festivals of thirty years like thou, he who wears the double sistrum, the son of the white crown, and the issue of the red diadem, who unites the two countries in peace, the King of Egypt, Ra-userma-sotep-en-Ra, the son of Ra, Rameses, beloved of Amen, living eternally.

INSCRIPTION OF PRINCE NIMROD.

translated by S. BIRCH, LL.D., D.C.L.

THE following inscription, which was found and still exists on the front of a granite block at Abydos, has been published by Mariette Pasha in his Abydos, Description des Fouilles &c., fo., Paris, 1880, tom. ii. pl. 36, 37, 38. It has been translated by Brugsch-Bey, Geschichte Aegypten unter den Pharaonen, 8vo, Leipzig, 1877, s. 652 and foll.; and the translation of this work by Danby Seymour and Philip Smith, London, 8vo, 1879, Vol. II. p. 199 and foll. According to Brugsch-Bey, Shashanq, mentioned in it, was a king of Assyria, and Namroth, or Nimrod, his son, who was buried at Abydos, the grandson of Shashanq I., or the biblical Shishak. The granite statue of Nimrod mentioned in the inscription is said to be in the Egyptian collection at Florence. The copy of Mariette Pasha shows that the inscription is much mutilated, and in the translation which has been given by Brugsch-Bey considerable restorations have been inserted by that savant, to link together the text, and so render the sense more continuous. Some of these may be due to a better copy ; others are necessary restorations; the rest are more or less conjectural. Besides this are several other newly discovered inscriptions of the period of the 22 nd dynasty; but as the present volume closes the series of the " Records of the Past," there is not space for their insertion in the series.

INSCRIPTION OF PRINCE NIMROD.

SPOLIATION OF TOMBS.

> XXтн DYNASTY.

TRANSLATED BYP. J. DE HORRACK.

THE papyrus, of which a translation here follows, was purchased in the year 1857 from Dr. Abbott of Cairo, by the Trustees of the British Museum, and in 1860 a facsimile, preceded by an excellent preface from the pen of Dr. S. Birch, was published by them in the Select Papyri in the Hieratic character. This eminent Egyptologist had already in 1859 drawn the attention of the scientific public to this ancient document by giving an account of it in the Revue Archéologique (Tome XVI. p. 257), under the title of Le Papyrus Abbott, par S. Birch, traduction de $F$. Chabas. Since that time, and nearly simultaneously, two complete French translations have been published—one by M. F. Chabas, Chalon-sur-Saône, 1870, in his Mélanges Égyptologiques (troisième série, Tome I.) ; the other by M. G. Maspero, Paris, 1871, entitled Une enquête judiciaire à Thebes au temps de la $X X$. Dynastie. Both translations are accompanied by an analysis, and the latter by a transcription of the hieratic text and an interlinear version.

The MS. consists of seven pages of clear and bold handwriting, regular at the commencement, but less carefully written as it approaches the end, until it becomes almost illegible on the endorsement which is not reproduced here, as it merely contains a list of names of no special importance for the present publication.

This valuable document throws considerable light upon the administration of justice in ancient Egypt, and shows the entire course of proceedings in a criminal case under the reign of Rameses IX. The style is clear and the action goes on in a connected and regular way. But what makes the sense of the translation somewhat ambiguous on a first reading is the difficulty of rendering it literally, and at the same time in good English, as the sentences are very long and frequently interrupted by explanatory phrases.

12 The monument of King Nub-kheper-ra, son of the Sun, Antuf, was found to have been ${ }_{13}$ pierced by the hands of the thieves, who had made a hole of two cubits and a half in its surrounding wall, and (a hole of) one cubit
14 in the great outside-chamber of the sepulchre of the Chief of the transportation of the offerings, Auri, of PaAmen, 15 which (tomb) is in ruins. It was in good condition, the thieves not having been able to penetrate into it.
i6 The monument of King Ra-Sekhem-em-apu-ma, son of Sun, Antuf-aa. It was found 17 to have been pierced by the hands of the thieves at the spot where the tablet of the monument is fixed.
18 Examined on that day, it was found entire, the thieves not having been able to penetrate into it.

I Sepulchres and chapels in which repose the chanters and mourners, the women and men of the country,
2 in the West-quarter of the city. It was found that the thieves had violated them all, that they had torn their occupants
3 away from their coffins and cases, had thrown them into the dust and had stolen all the funeral objects which 4 had been given to them, as well as the gold and silver and the ornaments which were in their coffins.

5 The Commandant, Chief of the Police, Pa-au-at, of the very august necropolis, as well as the Chiefs of the Police and the Police-officers,
6 the Examiners of the necropolis, the Scribe of the Nomarch, the Scribe of the Overseer of the Treasury, who were with them, made a report about (these tombs) ${ }^{2}$ to 7 the Nomarch Kha-em-uas, the royal Controller Nes-su-

8 Amen-ra, the King of the gods, and the royal Controller Nefer-Ka-ra-em-Pa-Amen, Reporter of the King, (all) high Magistrates.
9 The Commandant of the West-quarter, Chief of the Police, $\mathrm{Pa}_{\mathrm{A}-\mathrm{AU}-\mathrm{AA} \text {, of the necropolis, placed the names of }}$ the thieves in writing io before the Nomarch. The Magistrates and Controliers arrested them and put them into prison; they crossexamined them and reported the state of things.

II The 16th year, the 19th day of Athyr. This was the day on which started, in order to examine the great places ${ }^{1}$ of the royal children, the royal wives 12 and the royal mothers, which are in the abode of the perfected, ${ }^{2}$ the Nomarch Kha-em-uas, the royal Controller Nes-su-amen, Scribe of the King,

15 was arrested, he having been (one) of three temple servants who were near the sepulchres, at the time when the Nomarch Ra-neb-ma-nekht made

[^43]16 his investigation in the year xiv. ; he said: "I was in the tomb of the royal spouse Isis of the King User-ma-ra Meri-amen (Ramses III.) ; I took away some ${ }^{17}$ objects and I squandered them." When the Nomarch and the Controller had the worker in metal brought before them at the

I sepulchres, he was blindfolded as a man to be carefully watched ; his sight was restored when he arrived at the spot, and the Magistrates
2 said to him: "Walk before us to the tomb of which you said: I took away some objects from it." The worker in metal walked before the Magistrates
3 to a reserve-tomb of the royal children of King User-ma-ra Sotep-en-ra (Ramses II.), the great god; nobody had been interred therein and it had been left open, 4 as well as the resting-place of the workman Amen-eman, son of Hui, of the necropolis, also situated there. And he said: "These are the tombs where I have been." 5 The Magistrates submitted the worker in metal to a complete cross-examination in the interior of the Great Valley. It was 6 found that he was unacquainted with any place there, excepting the two on which he had put his hand. He pronounced an oath by the sovereign Lord, striking his nose
7 and his ears, and with both hands upon a rod said: "I do not know any place within the (funeral) abodes, with the exception of the tomb which is open and 8 the resting-place on which your hand is placed." The Magistrates examined the tombs and the great places which are the abode of 9 the perfected, where repose the royal children, the royal wives, the royal ancestors, the good fathers and mothers of the King.

Io They were found in good condition. The high Magistrates despatched the Examiners, the overseers, the workmen of the necropolis, the Chiefs in of the Police, the Police-officers, and all the servants of the necropolis of the West-quarter of the city, with a grand verdict (of Not Guilty?) as far as the city.

12 The 16th year, the 19th day of Athyr. On that day, at the time of evening, near the temple of Ртaн, Lord of Thebes, arrived the royal Controller
${ }_{13}$ Nes-su-amen, Scribe of the King and the Commandant Pa-Sar, of the city. They met the Chief of the workmen, User-khopesh, the Scribe Amen-nekhtu
14 and the workman Amen-hotepu, of the necropolis. The Commandant of the city spoke to the men of the necropolis in the presence of the Controller of the King 15 as follows: "The statement which you have made this day is not an authentic statement. You will have to suffer for what i6 you have done." Thus he spoke to them. He pronounced an oath by the sovereign Lord, in presence of the Controller of the King, and said: "The Scribe Hora-sherau, son of Amen-nekhtu, 17 of the necropolis, from the interior of the Khena, ${ }^{1}$ and the Scribe Pat-besa, of the necropolis, have made me five

[^44]revelations of sayings for which you are accountable, well worthy of death ;
I 8 now I shall place a report on this subject before the King, my master, that the King's men may be sent to destroy you all." So spoke he.

19 The 16 th year, the 20 th day of Athyr. Copy of the writing which the Commandant of the West-quarter of the city, Chief of the Police, PA-AU-AA, of the necropolis, placed before the Nomarch, 20 relative to the words which the Commandant $\mathrm{Pa}_{\mathrm{A}} \mathrm{SAR}$, of the city, spoke to the men of the necropolis, in presence of the Controller of the King and the Scribe Pai-netem, of the Overseer of the Treasury.
2 I The Commandant, Pa-aU-aA, of the West-quarter of the city, said: "The royal Controller, Nes-Su-amen, Scribe of the King, found himself in company with the Commandant, Pa-SAR,
22 of the city. He was discoursing with the men of the necropolis, near the temple of Ptah, Lord of Thebes. And the Commandant of the city said to the men

PAGE VI.

I of the necropolis: "Why were you mirthful on my account at the door of my house? I am the Commandant who makes the reports
2 to the Prince. Come! be mirthful in the place where you dwell. When it was examined, you found it in good condition, the violated (tomb) of

3 Ra-sekhem-seshet-taui, son of the Sun, Sebek-em-SAU-EF and Nub-kHa-s, his only royal spouse. By the great Prince!" And 4 he pronounced ten oaths by the worth of Amen-ra, the King of the gods, the great god, whose statues were placed in his sanctuary this day.
5 Then, the workman User-khopesh, who is under the authority of the chief workman, Retu-em-maut, of the necropolis, spoke as follows: "All the kings and their
6 royal spouses, royal mothers and royal children, who repose in the august necropolis, as well as those who repose in the abode of the perfected, are in good condition ;
7 they are protected and cared for through all eternity; the excellent administration of the King, their child, watches and inspects them
8 thoroughly." The Commandant of the city said to him: "You use marvellous language." But the words were not insignificant ones, those spoken by the 9 Commandant of the city. Again the Commandant of the city told the words for a second time, saying: "The Scribe Hora-sherau, son of Amen-nekhtu, of the necropolis, of the interior of 10 The Khena (came . . . . . .) towards the place where I was, and made me three revelations of very important sayings,
II which my Scribe and the Scribe of the two districts of the city wrote down. Now the Scribe Pai-besa, of the necropolis, made me
12 two other revelations, total, five. They also wrote them down. Concerning them silence cannot be kept; Woe ! They are crimes worthy of the hatchet, 13 (and that the criminals) be placed on the bed of torture and submitted to all sorts of chastisement on account of them. But I shall send a report on this subject before the King, my master, 14 that the King's men may be despatched to destroy you." Thus spoke to them the Commandant of the city, and he pronounced ten oaths, saying :
$\mathbf{x}_{5}$ "Thus shall I do." I heard of the words which the Commandant of the city said to the men of the august necropolis of millions of years, of the 16 King, in the West of Thebes, and I make a report of them before my master, as it would be a crime for a man like me
17 to hear of words and conceal them. However, I have not been able to get at the highly important words of which thus said the Commandant of the 18 city: "The Scribes of the interior of the necropolis, who stayed amongst the men (of the necropolis) told them to me." Alas! I $x_{9}$ did not reach them. ${ }^{1}$ I make a report before my master on the subject. Let my master bring forward those who got at the words of which 20 the Commandant of the city said: "The Scribes of the necropolis told them to me; I will send a message on the subject before the King." Thus spoke he. It is a crime 21 for the two Scribes of the necropolis to have sought out the Commandant of the city, in order to make a report to him, when their fathers had not made him any,
22 but brought in their statement to the Nomarch, when he was in the South. But when he was in the North, the Police-officers, attendants of 23 his Majesty, of the necropolis, started for the place

[^45]where the Nomarch was, with their memoranda. I have procured evidence in the 16 th year, the 20 th day of Athyr, 24 concerning the words which had been heard from (the mouth of) the Commandant of the city. I place them in writing before my master, that he may have brought forward those who reached them, immediately the next morning."

3 The Nomarch Kha-em-uas, the First Prophet of AmenRa, King of the gods, Amen-hotep, the Prophet of Amen-Ra, King of the gods, the Scribe Nas-su-amen, of the temple of millions of years,
4 Of the King of Upper and Lower Egypt, Nefer-ka-ar Sotef-en-ra (Ramses IX.), the royal Controller Nas-suamen, Scribe of the King, the Major-domo of the abode of the divine adorer of Amen-Ra, the King of the gods, 5 the royal Controller Nefer-ka-ra-em-pa-amen, Reporter of the King, the Captain Hora, of (the cavalry), the Fan-bearer Hora,
6 of the Marine, the Commandant $\mathrm{P}_{\mathrm{A}-\mathrm{SAR}}$, of the city. Then the Nomarch Kha-em-Uas had brought forward the worker in metal Par-khari, son of Kharui, [^46]7 the worker in metal Tari, son of Kha-em-apt, the worker in metal Pa-kamen, son of Tari, of the temple of User-ma-ra Meri-Amen (Ramses III.) which is under the authority of the First Prophet of Amen.

8 The Nomarch said to the high Magistrates of the grand assembly of the city : "The Commandant of the city said some words to the 9 Examiners and workmen of the necropolis, in the 16 th year, the r9th day of Athyr, in presence of the royal Controller Nes-su-amen, Scribe of the King, 10 and slandered concerning the great places which are in the abode of the perfected. Now I, the Nomarch of the country, was there il with the royal Controller Nes-su-amen, Scribe of the King. We examined the places of which the Commandant of the city said: "They have been penetrated by the workers in metal 12 of the temple of Ra-user-ma Meri-Amen." We found them intact, discovering everything he had said to be false. But behold!
13 the workers in metal are standing before you. Let them tell all that has happened." They deliberated. It was found that the men 14 did not know any place in the abode of the perfected, about which the Commandant of the city had spoken. It was he who had been false in this.
15 The high Magistrates accorded the breath of life to the workers in metal, of the temple of User-ma-ra MeriAmen, in Pa-Amen, which (temple) is under the authority of the First Prophet of Amen-Ra, the King of the gods, 16 Amen-hoter. On this day a paper was signed for them, and they went to the house of the Scribe of the Nomarch.

INSCRIPTIONS ON THE STATUE OF BAK-EN-KHONSU.

 (XIXth DYNASTY.)
TRANSLATED BY

P. J. DE HORRACK.

THE Glyptothek in Munich possesses a fine statue of a High-Priest of Ammon, named Bak-enKhonsu, who was also Superintendent of Public Works under Seti I. and Ramses II. He is represented, in the Egyptian style, sitting on the ground with his arms folded across his knees. The inscriptions, of which a translation here follows, cover the legs, back, and lower part of the statue. They have already been published and translated by the late Théodule Devéria, Monument Biographique de Bakenkhonson, in the Mémoires de l'Institut Egyptien, tome premier, Paris, 1862 ; by Professor J. Lauth, Der Hohepriester nnd Oberbanmeister Bokenchons, Leipzig, 1863; and by Dr. H. Brugsch-Bey in his Geschichte Aegyptens, Leipzig, 1877.

It would appear from the inscriptions (as Devéria justly observes) that Bak-en-Khonsu himself caused his statue to be executed during his lifetime, when he was 86 years of age. Egyptian epitaphs show us many cases in which the deceased appear to extol their own virtues, and in this instance modesty is certainly not predominant in the High-Priest's estimate of his qualifications. Having completed his statue to his satisfaction, and taken care that no meritorious act of his life should be forgotten, he entreats, as a recompense from his god, the favour of a prolonged existence.

INSCRIPTION COVERING THE BACK OF ## THE STATUE.

The noble Chief, First Prophet of Amen, Bak-enKhonse, the.justified, says: I was equitable and truthful, a favourite of my master, honouring the precepts of my god, walking in his track, performing acts of beneficence within his temple. I was the great superintendent of public works in Pa-Amen, ${ }^{1}$ beloved by my master. Oh, all men having reflection in their minds, oh creatures who are upon earth, and come after me from millions of years to millions of years, after age and decay, whose hearts are contented at the sight of glorious acts, I will inform ye who I was upon earth, in all the functions I filled from the time of my birth: I was four years in extreme infancy; I was twelve years in youth; I was made steward by King Ra-men-ma [Seti I.]; I was priest of Amen for four years; I was divine father of Amen for twelve years ; I was third prophet of AMEN for fifteen years; I was second prophet of Amen for twelve [years]. He [the King] rewarded me; he distinguished me for my merit; he appointed me first prophet of Amen, [which I was] for twenty-seven years. I was a good father to my temple servants, providing for their families, tendering the hand to those who were miserable, sustaining those who were inferior, and performing glorions acts in his [the King's] temple. I was the great superintendent of public works of the Khent of Thebes to his son, issued from his loins, the King of Upper and Lower Egypt, Ra-user-ma [^47]Sotep-en-ra, the son of the Sun, Ramessu-Meri-Amen [Ramses II.], who giveth life. [He] erected monuments to his father Amen, who placed him on his throne ; he did it through the First prophet of Amen, Bak-en-Khonsu, the justified. He [Bak-en-K honsí] says: I performed glorious deeds in the temple of Amen, as superintendent of public works of my master; I made him a sacred pylon [named] "Ramessu-meri-Amen, who doth listen to the believer," at the upper doorway of the temple of Amen. I had obelisks in granite erected near it ; their summits reach the firmament. The front building before it is of stone, and faces Thebes. The reservoirs and gardens are planted with trees. I constructed huge gilt doors ; their summits join the sky. I made lofty flag-staffs; I had them raised in the noble court in front of his temple. I launched large boats into the river for Amen, Mut and Khonsu.

> By the noble Chief, First Prophet of Amen,

Bak-en-Khonsu.

INSCRIPTION COVERING THE LEGS OF THE STATUE.

"May Amen-Ra, Tum, Hor-em-akhui, the soul of heaven, living in truth, the Aкнem ${ }^{1}$ in his boat, Mut, the great, the protectress of the two regions, and Khonsu-neferнотеP grant a royal table of offerings; may they grant that my name be established in Thebes, and remain stable to all eternity ; [may they grant this] to me, the noble Chief, the leader of the prophets of all the gods, First Prophet of Amen in Ape, ${ }^{2}$ Bak-en-Khonsu, justified."

He says: Oh prophets, divine fathers and priests of PAAmen, present flowers to my statue and libations to my body. I was the virtuous slave of my master, possessing equity and sincerity, rejoicing in truth, hating evil and developing the precepts of my god, I, the First Prophet of Amen, Bak-en-Khonsu.

INSCRIPTION COVERING THE LOWER PART of THE STATUE.

The noble Chief, First Prophet of Amen, Bak-en-Khonsu, [justified. He says:] I am he who possesseth truth, the virtuous slave of my god, who approacheth him in his turn, who giveth. . . . . . ${ }^{1}$

Youth or married man who [art yet] in life, may the happiness of to-day surpass that of yesterday, and (the same) to-morrow ; may it increase more than mine. I was, from youth to old age, within the temple of Amen, in the service (of my god), contemplating his face. May he bestow upon me a happy existence of one hundred and ten years.

THE PAPYRUS, I. 37i, OF LEYDEN.

> translated by
> G. MASPERO.

THIS papyrus was found in one of the Theban tombs. It was tied to a wooden statuette of "The singer-woman of Ammon, Kena . . . ." The name on the statue, Kcna . . ., being, not the name on the papyrus, Onkhari, it is evident that the statue had not been made in the first instance for the woman whom it was supposed to afterwards represent. It came probably from an older tomb which had been rifled of its contents by robbers, and was sold second-hand to the husband of Onkhari.

The style of the writing brings us to the last years of the XXth dynasty, and perhaps to the time of Sheshonq. A facsimile has been published by M. Leemans in Monuments Égyptiens auu Musée de Leyde, Tom. II. pl. 183-T84. A short analysis was given by M. Chabas in his Notices Sommaires; a transcription, translation and complete commentary will be found in the Fournal Asiatique, Mai-Juin, 1880, and in the 2nd fasc, of my Études Egyptiennes.

In it we have a husband complaining of the evil condition he is in, three years at least after he became a widower, telling how considerately he had acted towards his wife, and contrasting his conduct with hers. The nature of the evil he suffered he does not state very explicitly : perhaps he was afflicted with some illness which he attributed to the malignity of his departed consort, perhaps he thought she came back from the other world expressly to torment him. The whole case reminds me of the curious actions the Norsemen of the Middle Ages brought against ghosts : they accused, judged, and found guilty dead persons who, as they said, rose from the tomb to haunt the house they had lived in. Though the Leyden Papyrus is not an official document, it seems to me to have a judicial character, and to relate to some matter of the same kind. The husband sues "the wise spirit" of his wife, and forbids it to inflict on him persecutions which no anterior ill-usage ever justified. To transmit the writ unto Ament, he probably read it aloud in the tomb, and then tied it to the statue which was supposed to represent his wife: she received the summons in the same way she was accustomed to receive the prayers and food which were given to her statue at certain times of the year.

TO THE WISE SPIRIT OF ONKHARI. ${ }^{1}$

What offence have I committed against thee that I must come to this the evil condition which I am in ? What offence have I committed against thee that thou must help ${ }^{2}$ against me? For, since I became a husband to thee, until to-day, what I have done to thee that I kept secret? What am I to do, when I shall have to give my evidence [as to] what I have done to thee, when I shall stand with [thee] before [the judge,] in words of my mouth [directed] to the cycle of the gods of Ament, and thou shalt be judged through this writing-viz., [through] the words of my complaint against what thou hast done, what wilt thou do? When [thou] becamest my wife, I was a young man, I was with [thee]. I was promoted to offices of every kind, [and] I was with [thee], I never deserted [thee], I never caused any grief to thy heart. I acted thus when I was a young man ; when I was promoted to every great dignity of Рнaraof, l. h. s., I did not desert thee, saying: "Let this be thine in common with me!" And whereas everybody who came to me saw me in thy presence, I never received anybody before knowing whether thou wouldst have anything to say to it, saying: "I will act according to thy heart." And now, behold, thou hast not gladdened my heart, and I must plead against thee, and people shall see the false from the true. For behold, I commanded the captains of the bowmen of Рharaoh, l. h. s., also of his [^50]charioteers, and I, when they came to lie on their belly before thee, if there was, in what they brought, something good, I put it before [thee], I never hid anything for myself. . . . . . I never shewed myself offensive to thy feelings in whatever I did to thee in the way of a master; I never was found being rude to thee in the way of a clown who enters another's house ; I never took any account of what thou didst [to] me. When I was put into the place which I am in, when I came to know no more [what it was] to go out as was my wont [before], and to do what I had to do as one who is a recluse, when my oil, also my bread, also my clothes were brought me, I never put [thee] in another place, saying: "What would become of the woman ;" and I never was rude to thee, and behold, thou didst not recognize the good I did thee, and I . . . . . . of the things which thou didst. And when thou didst sicken of the sickness which thou hadst, I went to the chief physician, and he prescribed, and he did what thou toldest him to do. And when I went to follow Pharaoh l. h. s. to the South, whereas my wont was to be reunited with thee, while I made my stay of eight months, I never ate, never drank in the way of a man. And when I reached Memphis, I asked leave from Рharaoh, l. h. s., and I did what they were doing to thee, I wept extremely with my people in front of my dwelling, I gave clothes and linen for thy embalming, and I caused many clothes to be made, and there was nothing good I did not cause to be done for thee. And behold, I passed three years . . . . . and I never entered the house, and I used not to cause that to be done which was ordinary, and behold, I acted thus because of thee! And behold, I do not know any more good from evil, and thou shalt be judged with me! And behold, as long as the lamentations lasted in the house, I never went in to Pharaoh l. h. s. . . . . .

HATASU (commonly, but erroneously called Hat-shepu, Hashepu, or Hashop, ${ }^{1}$ by very excellent scholars) was the daughter of King Thothmes I. of${ }^{1}$ The untenableness of these readings is manifest on the mere inspection of the variants of the name (see Lieblein, Dictionnaire de Noms Hieroglyphiques, p. 105). The syllabic sign, which in this proper name, as in the simple adjective, is written either with or without $s$, as a phonetic complement, cannot possibly at this time have had the value $s^{\prime} e p$ (not $s^{\prime} e p s$ ) which was given to it in the base period. This very obelisk furnishes examples of the simple adjective without the complementary s: netar pen as, "this august God;" as't as, "the venerable persea," where it would be absurd to read s'cp. When the Egyptians of the base period used this sign in writing the word $s^{\prime} e p s$, they added the $s$, not as a phonetic complement (which it could not possibly be), but as an independent letter necessary for the completion of the word.

the eighteenth dynasty, and the sister of Thothmes II. and Thothmes III. She was raised to the throne by her father, who associated her with him, as appears from one of his inscriptions, in which he gives her the royal name Māt-ka-rā, and calls her Queen of the South and of the North. ${ }^{1}$ She married her brother Thothmes II., by whom she had a daughter, called Hatasu like herself, who became the wife of her uncle Thothmes III. After the death of her father she reigned as sole sovereign, but Thothmes II. after a time was recognized as having a share in the sovereignty, and he finished by throwing off her authority, and caused her name to be hammered out of the royal inscriptions. Sne recovered her authority after his death, and ruled conjointly with Thothmes III., but after the twenty-fourth year of the latter his name alone appears on the monuments, and he [^51]showed his resentment against her by striking her name out of the inscriptions.

The monuments of this queen are among the most beautiful productions of Egyptian art, and the obelisk from which the following inscription is taken is without its rival in form, colour, and beauty of engraving. The inscription has been published in part in Burton's Excerpta Hieroglyphica (pl. 50); more completely in Prisse's Monuments ( pl .18 ) and in Lepsius' Denkmäler (Abth. III., pl. 22). Some parts of it have unfortunately suffered injury, and it is most desirable that the accuracy of the text should be verified by some scholar who is conscious of the difficulties which the existing copies present to the translator. I am unable to say whether or not this was done by the late M. de Rougé, who gave a translation of this inscription in his lectures of 1872 . (See Mélanges d'Archicologie Egyptienne et Assyricnne, Tome III., p. 90.) There are passages of this translation which cannot be considered as exactly giving the sense of the original represented in our copies. But this original presents such extremely unusual grammatical constructions that I am disposed to suspect the accuracy of the text, and I have retained M. de Rougé's version, which, if not made upon a more correct text, at least furnishes the best solution which so eminent a scholar has discovered of these difficulties. I have, however, not hesitated to make such corrections as appeared to be necessary.

SOUTH SIDE.

I Live the Horus, ${ }^{1}$ abounding in divine gifts, ${ }^{2}$ the Mistress of diadems, rich in years, the golden Horus, goddess of diadems, Queen of Upper and Lower Egypt ; Mat-Kara, daughter of the Sun, Hatasu, consort of Amon, living for ever and ever, daughter of Amon, dwelling in his heart.
2 his only one, who hath been formed for him; glorious image of the universal Lord ; whom the spirits of Heliopolis have created. Her beauty hath taken hold of the Two Worlds as he hath done. He hath formed her to bear his diadems,
3 the form of forms like Chepera, the crowned of all the crowned, like the god of both horizons, pure egg which hath come forth in glory, nursed by Urit-hekaid, ${ }^{3}$ Mistress of diadems, crowned by Anon himself
4 upon his throne in Hermonthis. He hath selected her for the protection of Egypt, and for securing the victory to the Pat and the Rechit, ${ }^{2}$ Horus the avenger of her father, the elder of his mother's husband, 5 whom Ra hath engendered to produce a glorious seed upon earth, and to give happiness to the Hamemet. ${ }^{2}$ His
${ }^{1}$ L'Horus zivante, Rougé. But the position of the word änx before the god's name proves it to be a verb (vivat !), not an adjective or participle.

[^52]living image, the Queen of the South and of the North Mat-ka-ra the smu-metal ${ }^{1}$ of kings,
6 she hath made this as a monument to her father Amon. lord of the thrones of the Two Worlds, dwelling in the Apt ; and hath made for him two great obelisks of hard granite of the South, the summit of each is of the smu metal (the tribute)
7 of the best quality of all countries; they are seen at a distance of many leagues, the Two Worlds are bathed in their splendours. The sun's disk shines between them as when it rises from the horizon of heaven.
8 I have done this from a heart full of love for my divine father Amon. I have entered upon the way in which he conducted me from the beginning, all my efforts were according to his mighty spirits, I have not opposed anything which he hath predestined.

WEST.

I My Majesty knoweth his might, ${ }^{2}$, and I have therefore acted according to his command. He hath directed me, I have not ordered the works . . . . . ${ }^{3}$

> ' The smut-metal, which, from the uses to which it was applied, appears to me to be copper, is supposed by Dr. Lepsius to be electrum, whilst M. Chabas holds it to be a mere synonym of gold.

> 2 Ma majeste comnait sa divinite, Rouge. The queen in this part of the inscription uses masculine pronouns; but in this phrase there is a false concord, if the masculine suffix after neterer applies to "my Majesty," which has the feminine ending. And the word for "divinity" is nowhere else written neterer.

[^53]2 he it is who hath given the regulations, there was no wisdom of mine for his temple, I have not transgressed his ordinances, my heart was full of the intelligence of my father. I have entered
3 into his designs, I have not neglected the business of the Universal Lord, I have on the contrary applied myself to it, for I know that Thebes is a heaven upon earth,
4 it is the august staircase of the beginning of time, it is the $u t^{\prime}$ at $^{1}$ of the Universal Lord, his heart's throne, which sustains his glories and holds within it all who accompany him. The king himself, he saith, 5 I make this known to the Hamemet ${ }^{2}$ who will live in construction would be identical with em an rexa, "I know not," in the first line on the north side. Here $e m$ (like the Greek ö $\tau$ ) is used to introduce a quotation, and is omitted in translation.
${ }^{1}$ Ut'at. The ut'at of the sun was said to be complete or full when one of the vertical points of his yearly course was reached.

* Pait rexit, translated " hommes purs" by M. dc Rougé. The explanations hitherto given of the words pait, rexit and hamemet (sometimes hamemu) are far from satisfactory. That the words denote human beings (of both sexes) is most probable. But they neither mean " men" simply, nor classes of the population, such as "hommes éclairés" "initiated," \&c. There is an enumeration in Todt., 42, II, of "men, gods, glorified beings ( $x$ ${ }^{u}$ ), the damned, the pait, the rexit, the hamemet, \&c." The pait are distinctly mentioned as inhabiting the nether world, either the Aukerti, as in the hymn to Amon (Boulaq, v. 3) or the Tuat (Rhind Papyri, 3I, 9, hieratic text) The demotic text corresponding to the last reference clcarly signifies "those who have gone before." The hamemet, on the other hand, are not less distinctly spoken of as living in a time later than the present ; see, e. $\boldsymbol{q}$., in this very inscription, the 5th line on the western side of the obelisk. The king is crowned lord and master of the rexit (Dümichen, Hist. Insch., pl. 39 ; Zeitschr. f. ägypt. Spr. 1874, taf. 1, 1. 10, 11), "in face of the Hamemet." I believe that these three classes of beings are the generations past, present and future.
the double period, ${ }^{1}$ and whose hearts will inquire after this monument which I have made for my father, 6 and who will talk inquiringly as they gaze upon it. I who sit in the palace remember who hath made me;
7 my heart hath hastened to make for him two obelisks of smu-metal, whose tops reach into the sky in the august hall of columns which is between 8 the two great pylones of the King, the victorious Bull, the King of the South and of the North, Ra-cheper-kA-RA, ${ }^{2}$ the triumphant . . . . . . the words of men now living.

NORTH.

I When they see my monument in the course of years, and speak of what I have done, beware of saying "I know not, I know not."
2 This has been done by covering the stone with gold all over. It is thus that it has been done. I swear it by the love of RA and the favour of 3 my father Amon, who invigorateth my nostrils with life and strength. I bear the white crown, I am diademed with the red crown ; the two Horus gods have united for me
4 the two divisions. I rule over this land like the son of Isis, I am victorious like the son of Nut. The Sungod Ra reposes in the Sekti ${ }^{3}$ boat, he rests in 5 the Atet boat, he consorts with his two mothers, the Uræus goddesses in the divine ship ; the earth is fixed,

[^54]the heaven is made stable. He hath granted that I should be for ever like him who changeth not. ${ }^{1}$ I rest 6 in life like Atmu. I have (offered) the two obelisks wrought with smu-metal to father Amon with the intent that
7 my name should remain permanent in this temple for ever and ever. They are of a single stone of granite, without any joining 8 or division in them. My Majesty began to work at this in the 15 th year, ${ }^{2}$ and the first day of Mechir till the 16th year and the last day of Mesori, making seven months since the beginning of it in the mountain.

EAST.

I I have made them for him in satisfaction of heart, for it is the King of all the gods to whom I pray. I have had them covered with smu-metal which I have put 2 upon the top of them. . . . . . I ignore the talk of men ; my own mouth is perfect in all that cometh forth from it ; I do not retract what I have said.
3 Listen ye, therefore; I have put smu-metal upon them (till the extremity) measured in ingots and sacs. It is I who have proclaimed the quantity, so that 4 the Two Worlds may see, and that the ignorant man as well as the wise may know it. No one who heareth this can contradict what I have said,
5 but will say, "She hath been established as truthful before her father," and the god knows that which is within me.

[^55]Amon, the Lord of thrones, he hath granted that I should reign
6 over Egypt and the Red Land because of this. I am not revolted against in all the plains; all the countries are subject to me. He hath made my bounds
7 as far as the limits of heaven; the course of the sun's disk is at my service; he hath given it to her who is before him ; he knoweth that I offer it to him, I his daughter
8 who exist in truth and glorify him. He it was who destined me to favour before my father, the living, the stable, the strong, upon the throne of Horus and of all the living, like the Sun-god for ever.

SEPULCHRAL INSCRIPTION OF PANEHSI.

TRANSLATED BXE. L. LUSHINGTON, D.C.L., LL.D.

THE following inscription was found in a tomb near Memphis, and formed part of the Passalacqua collection at Berlin. It was first published by Dr. Brugsch in his Monumens de l'Égypte, pl. 3, with an accompanying translation, and later by Dr. Reinisch, in his Aegyptische Chrestomathie, pl. 15. It contains a hymn to the Sun-god Ra, put into the mouth of the deceased Panehsi, designated as scribe or registrar of the table in Royal Apt, which Brugsch in his Dict. Geogr., p. 21, explains as the quarter of the royal harem at Memphis. Something is lost from the upper end of the tablet, which may have once had a figure of Panehsi presenting himself with suppliant gestures before Osiris the judge of the dead, attended by members of his family. The monument is dedicated by his son Apherumes, ${ }^{1}$ himself a scribe attached to the Court, making his father's name live, as he expresses it, in a conventional formula of frequent occurrence in sepulchral monuments. A few characters only in two or three places have become illegible.

The hymn abounds in reiterated phrases, constantly found in similar compositions, descriptive of the Sungod's triumphal progress through heaven, showering blessings on the earth, and visiting with his penetrating radiance the under-world. His boat of morning, [^56]Sekti, and boat of evening, Aat, receive the god each at its appointed season. The Egyptian notion of a vessel conveying the sun on the other side of the earth from west to east during the hours of night, may have been familiarized to the Greeks, if not earlier, at least in the time of Psammetichus, and it was readily accepted as congenial to their versatile imagination. The first poem indeed in which it is said to occur, the epic Titanomachia of an unknown author, might point to a remoter date for its introduction ; but the earliest evidence preserved to us in the elegies of Mimnermus comes very near to this epoch. This poet sang how " Helios has toil allotted to him for all days, and no rest for his steeds or himself after rosyfingered morn has climbed the sky ; for his muchloved hollow couch of costly gold, made by Hephæstus' hands, upheld by wings, bears him through the wave on the topmost flood, sleeping by snatches, from the region of Hesperides to the land of Aethiopes, where his swift car and horses stand till early dawn may arrive, when he mounts another carriage." Later poets took up the fancy, and told how Helios lent his golden bowl, that was wont to bear himself, for Hercules to traverse in it the waste of ocean, on his daring raid upon Geryon's herds in Erytheia. Many of them may have had no suspicion of the source whence the original idea sprung, before it passed into distant regions; nor might modern readers have guessed its birthplace if the Egyptian language had not been recovered.

SEPULCHRAL INSCRIPTION OF PANEHSI.

(Adoration to RA). . . . . . when he sets in the western horizon of heaven, by one skilled scribe of the sacrificial table in royal Apt, Panehsi. Saith, Hail Ra, (maker of) mankind, Tum Harmachis, one god living by truth, maker of beings, author of existences, of beasts and inen, proceeding from thy (his) eye, lord of heaven, lord of earth, maker of subjects and rulers, lord universal, bull of the cycle of gods, King of the upper sky, lord of gods, Sovran Prince over cycle of godis and goddesses, self-formed double essence that was in the beginning:
Homage to thee, maker of gods, Tum, creator of intelligences, lord of delight, mighty one of loves, illumining all mankind living ;
I give thee adoration in the evening ; propitiated, thou reposest in life, the sekti is in gladness of heart, the aat in exultation, they conduct thee through the abyss in peace; thy crew rejoicing ; thy radiant eye divine has overthrown thy foe, repelling the advance of Apap, Thou reposest gracious with glad heart

[^57]in the horizon of Manu, where thou shinest on the gracious god, lord of eternity, ruler of the nether world, thou givest illumination to beings there departed :
they see thy glories,
the dwellers of the hollows in their recesses, their arms are uplifted in adoration to thy form.
Spirits of the West rejoice when thou beamest on them, the lords of the deep are glad at heart when thou illuminest the West, their eyes open to see thee,
their heart delights as they behold with acclamation thy form above them;
faultless their divine limbs are born, thou framest them in their completeness;
thou risest, thou destroyest their ills, thou settest to refresh their limbs, they adore as thou arrivest to them, they occupy the front of thy bark as thou settest in the horizon of Manu, renewed as RA each day.
Grant thou that my soul may be among them, may thy radiance beam on my frame, may I see the sun's orb amid those enlightened spirits of Hades, who sit before Unnefer, tending with careful regard the form of the Osirian scribe of the sacrificial table in royal Apt, Panehsi.

A kneeling figure, with hands raised in attitude of devotion, faces the last four lines of the inscription : in front of it are the words :-

By his son, giving life to his name, Scribe of the divine book of the lord of the Two Lands, the protector ${ }^{1}$ residing at the royal palace, Apherumes, justified.

1 "The protector," sotep sa, often applied to the King, a phrase of which the exact force is perhaps still undetermined.
